U. S. FIRST ARMY HEADS FOR BERLIN

PEACE FEARED BY NEW DEAL, DEWEY AVERS

REPUBLICAN BEGINS HIS BATTLE FOR PRESIDENCY

BY GARDNER BRIDGE

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, Sept. 7 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared tonight the Roosevelt administration had provided a basic issue for the National election by revealing plans to keep a large army after the war because it feared there would be no jobs for returning servicemen.

Delivering his first major campaign speech before a cheering, flag-waving crowd, the Republican nominee said the New Deal had failed to overcome the pre-war depression and added:

"It took a world war to get jobs for the American people."

Sure Of Future

The New Dealers are "afraid of peace," he said in a nationwide broadcast. "They are afraid of a continuance of their own failures to get this country going again. They are afraid of America.

"I do not share that fear. I believe that our members of the armed forces should be transported home and released at the earliest practical moment after victory. I believe that the occupation of Germany and Japan should very soon be confined to those who voluntarily choose to remain in the army when peace comes.

"I am not afraid of the future of America—either immediate or distant. I am sure of our future, if we get a national administration which believes in our country."

That fear of another wave of unemployment after the shooting stops is a basic campaign issue "was clearly revealed," Dewey said. "In the recent announcement by the director of selective service in Washington."

Plan Out In Open

Without referring to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey by name, the nominee wnt on:

"He said that when Germany and Japan have been defeated it will still be necessary to demobilize the armed forces very gradually. And Why? Because, he said, 'we can keep people in the army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out.' He repeated the quotation for emphasis.

"For six months we have been hearing statements from the New Deal underlings in Washington that this was the plan. Now it is out in the open.

"The administration knows that the war, with all its tragic toll of death, debt and destruction is the only thing that saved it. They are deadly afraid that they will go back to resumption of their own failures. That is why they are afraid to let men out of the army. That is why they say it is cheaper to keep men in the army than to let them come home."

He contended that when peace comes "the mighty energy we found lying dormant and unused in this country at the beginning of the war must be turned from destruction to creation."

The New Dealers' promise "is not jobs—but the dole," he declared.

Depression Encouraged

In measured tones, the New York executive accused the present administration of keeping the country "in a continuous state of depression for seven straight years" and said:

"There can and must be jobs for all who want them and a free open door for every man who

STANDARD OIL FIRE—More than 350,000 gallons of reclaimed oil went up in smoke when fire broke out at Standard Oil's No. 1 storage tank in downtown Cleveland, Ohio. The damage was estimated at $100,000, and several persons were injured before the Flames could be brought under control. (NEA Telephoto.)

Robots Take 5,000 Lives In England; Ordeal Now Ended

BY HOWARD COWAN

London, Sept. 7 (AP)—War-torn Britain, after 80 days of punishment from Hitler's blindly destructive robot bombs, was told officially today that the ordeal has ended and that the oft-threatened V-2 reprisal assault was not likely to be serious.

"Except possibly for the last few shots, the battle of London is over," declared Lt. Col. Edwin Duncan Sandys, [illegible] in charge of the defen[illegible] the flying bombs.

With the formally declared end of the assault, censorship regulations were lifted to disclose that a total of 8,000 robot bombs were launched against London and southern England since June 12, but that only 2,300 got through. More than 5,000 persons were killed by these bombs which did land.

Since 14 months before the first buzz-bomb startled London June 12, Sandys directed a desperate campaign to spare the civilian populace from the death and devastation the government feared.

Sandys said American-built Mustangs along with late model British Spitfires and Tempest fighter planes shot down 1,900 robots. An anti-aircraft belt which included 800 heavy guns and 2,000 light pieces claimed 1,500 robots. An inter arc of 2,000 balloons which was the last line of defense in Sandy's scheme intercepted 15 per cent of the bombs which escaped fighters and ground gunners.

In the closing days of the battle only nine per cent of the projectiles which the Germans were able to launch were reaching the capital.

The systematic destruction of robot launching sites by American and British bombers was highly praised by Sandys.

OUTPOSTS FALL IN GOTHIC LINE

Charge Into Po Valley By Allied Forces Expected Soon

BY NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, Sept. 7 (AP)—American troops closed in tonight on the big communications center of Pistoia and other outposts of the Germans' Gothic line defenses northwest of Florence—still fighting a dogged foe on Italian soil a year after Italy quit the war.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's veteran Yanks prepared to punch into the best of many defensive lines a resourceful enemy had constructed and lost in this campaign since Italy's capitulation In the fortified strongholds of the northern Apennine mountains guarding the paths to the Po valley, the Germans still fight with savage fury.

Rimini, a prize port under violent assault by land, sea and air, was expected to fall soon ad permit a tremendous Allied armored force to charge into the Po valley beyond.

American troops methodically closed in on the Gothic line defenses between Florence and the Ligurian Sea. The city of Prato, on the highway between Florence and Pistoia, was occupied. Units which captured Lucca, 10 miles northeast of Pisa, pushed well beyond that road center.

Three Judges Are Appointed By Kelly

Lansing, Sept. 7 (AP)—Governor Kelly announced three Wayne county judicial appointments, promoting Recorders Court Judge John V. Brennan to the circuit bench, Common Pleas Judge Gerald W. Groat to the recorders bench, and appointing his legal adviser, Thomas A. Kenney, to the Common Pleas Court.

The changes resulted from resignation yesterday of Lester S. Moll from the Third Wayne county judicial circuit.

Kelly said none of the men had sought the office to which he was appointed.

"I have recognized personal ability on the bench in my appointments of Judge Brennan and Judge Groat, and have appointed Kenney for his integrity and ability and because he has the temperament necessary to be a good judge," Kelly said.

BULGARIAN WAR MOVES BUNGLED

Nation Is Technically Enemy Of Both Nazis And Allies

London, Sept. 7 (AP)—Bulgaria, blindly stumbling toward peace, tonight found itself technically at war with both the Allies and Germany. The fantastic bungle topped anything yet seen in the diplomatic complexities of the second World War.

Tuesday night the new government of Premier Constantine Muraviev was trying to wind up an armistice with the United States and Great Britain when Moscow—losing patience with Bulgaria's pro-German neutrality—declared war. Wednesday Sofia asked Moscow for an armistice without waiting for the first shot to be fired and then went all the way and declared war on Germany.

Today Berlin first acknowledged that Bulgaria had declared war and then said it was only a break of diplomatic relations by which Bulgaria hoped "to obtain more favorable conditions" from the Allies.

Girl, 19, Scalped By Machine Shaft

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 7 (AP)—Mary Jane Treese, 19-year-old war worker, was scalped today when her hair caught in the shaft of a machine she was operating.

A fellow-worker who witnessed the accident, Mrs. Bessie Eley, 34, was said to be in a critical condition from shock.

TOKYO ADMITS INVASION FEAR

Hirohito Tells Nation To Get Set To Fight On Home Soil

(By The Associated Press)

Emperor Hirohito gravely commanded Japan today to marshal her total strength to meet intensified Allied operations at "this crucial moment of the war," and Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso acknowledged that the nation must "consider the possibility of an enemy landing on our home soil."

The uneasy pronouncements came at the opening of the 85th extraordinary session of the imperial Japanese diet and were quickly followed by a blunt statement from Navy Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai that "the general war situation cannot be regarded as satisfactory."

Field Marshal Gen Sugiyama, war minister, completed the picture with a statement that battles unprecedented in history were developing under the impetus of "the full-scale enemy offensive in the Pacific."

In his first speech to the diet since he took over the government from Gen. Hideki Tojo last July, Koiso outlined a plan for marshalling every Japanese, "regardless of age or sex," to increase war production and perfect Japanese fighting power "to crush the United States and Britain."

Stimson Supplies Data On Casualties; Germany Hard Hit

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson believes that Germany has "insufficient strength for the task of prolonged defense" of the Reich.

He expressed this somewhat cautious prediction of early victory at a news conference today in which he said that:

"The great bulk of the German army in western Europe has been destroyed or crippled."

More than 300,000 German prisoners have been taken in France.

Concerning American army casualties, Stimson said the total for the first three weeks of the fighting in France was 42,000, about half as many as had been expected.

His latest overall casualty report showed that army casualties from Pearl Harbor through August 21, based on reports up to that date, totaled 305,795, of whom 57,677 were killed. Navy casualties reported so far amount to 59,964, with 23,926 killed.

Paralysis Outbreak Rises To 509 Cases

Lansing, Sept. 7 (AP)—Twenty-two new cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the state health department today as the state's total in the outbreak rose to 509 cases.

The department said it had listed 17 deaths for the season, 10 of them in Detroit, two in Tuscola county, and one each in Dearborn, Washtenaw county, Ann Arbor, Jackson county and Lenawee county.

The new cases: Detroit, eight; Mt. Clemens and Ann Arbor, two each; and one each in Clinton county, Macomb county, Alma, Benzie county, Grand Rapids, Monroe, Osceola county, Owosso, Dearborn and Groose Pointe township.

PLANES BLAST SECRET BASE OF NIPPONESE

LIBERATORS WRECK 15 JAP MACHINES IN CELEBES RAID

General Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Friday, Sept. 8 (AP)—In another blistering raid on Celebes, west of New Guinea, Liberators smashed 15 Japanese planes, headquarters announced today.

At the same time Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported "it is now obvious that the Japanese Sixth air division has been practically annihilated in its attempted defense of western New Guinea."

A Catalina flying boat, striking for the first time near Zamboanga on Mindanao island, heavily damaged two Japanese naval auxiliaries off that city during Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Meanwhile a patrol of Liberators harassed the often-bombed Davao area.

Zamboanga, the second city on Mindanao, is about 230 miles west of Davao.

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 7 (AP)—American carrier fighter planes struck the Palau islands "in force" Tuesday, wrecking destruction on grounded planes and defenses on that island group forming one of Japan's links with the Philippines.

This thrust into one of the enemy's most secret and useful bases, but 550 miles east of the Philippines, was announced today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Prison Camp Japs Mutiny; 231 Killed And 108 Wounded

London, Sept. 8 (Friday) (AP)—Two hundred and thirty-one Japanese prisoners of war were killed and 108 wounded in a mutiny in an Australian camp August 5, John Curtin, Australian prime minister, disclosed in a statement issued in London today.

The Japanese, armed with mess knives and baseball bats, rose against their guards in the early hours of August 5. All but a few who escaped were rounded up by nightfall.

Of the dead, 20 committed suicide by hanging or strangulation, nine by stabbing, five from other self-inflicted wounds and two threw themselves under a train. Sixteen of the wounded, the statement said, also showed evidence of attempted suicide.

About 900 Japs took part in the mutiny. Eighteen of 20 sleeping huts and two administration buildings were destroyed by fire and inside were found a dozen Japanese bodies.

Australian casualties were light. One officer was murdered by a party of prisoners during the search for fugitives.

Blue Food Tokens To Be Discontinued

Washington, Sept. 7. (AP)—Use of blue ration tokens will be discontinued October 1 in line with the sharp reduction of the amount of processed food under rationing, the Office of Price administration announced tonight.

In a modification of present usage of the 1-point blue tokens, OPA announced that between Sept. 17 and Oct. 1 retailers will not give blue tokens to customers as change. Also, during that period shoppers will be able to spend blue tokens only in units of ten.

Housewives will be permitted to pool their tokens during that time to make up groups of ten, OPA said, but fewer than ten will not be accepted. None may be used after September 30.

The blue tokens, together with red ones for meats and dairy products, have been in use since February 27.

Bowles urged housewives to use blue tokens promptly so that they will not lose ration buying power when their use is discontinued.

Mysterious Poison Gas Sprayer Hunted

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 7. (AP)—Two state investigators joined the hunt for a mysterious, gas-spraying marauder today after three new victims reported they had been sickened by the fumes.

Two women and a man advised the police they woke in the sleeping rooms of their homes last night and early today suffering from nausea. They added that their lips and throats seemed parched and that they detected a sickening sweet odor.

Ardennes Forest Defenses Pierced

BY WILLIAM F. BONI

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Friday, Sept. 8. (AP)—The U. S. First army struck down the high road to Berlin today, fighting to within 39 miles of the German gateway city of Aachen and plowing half-way through the Ardennes Forest against fierce resistance.

Third army comrades on the south battled into Metz—last French fortress standing between them and the Saar border 20 miles away—threw two bridgeheads across the Moselle River but lost a third, their first setback since the Normandy breakthrough.

No Rest For Enemy

But the pressure was on all along the 130-mile front of these two American armies bearing down on the Siegfried line. The First army crushed the last enemy resistance in Sedan—where the Germans split French forces in half in 1940 and won the battle of France.

One column of the First army planted its standard across the Meuse River just 16 miles short of the Belgian fortress of Liege, and 37 miles southwest of the German frontier, two miles beyond which lies the Siegfried line city of Aachen.

There was no rest for the harried enemy on the First army front and no chance to dig in along the route over which he rolled confidently four years ago bent on subjugating all Europe.

The Americans, lashing out with tanks and infantry, pressed through the dense western half of the Ardennes Forest—considered an impenetrable military barrier until the Germans forced it—reaching a plateau in the center.

One Bridgehead Lost

The bridgehead on the Meuse menacing Liege was established at the town of Huy, midway between the city and Namur, 32 miles southwest of Liege, Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from the front.

More than 100 miles to the southeast, the Third army plunged into the great Lorraine province city of Metz despite heavy artillery fire, and threw two firm bridgeheads across the Moselle River to the south. One was in the Toul area west of Nancy; the other was not specifically located in front dispatches.

But near Pont-A-Mousson, about midway between Metz and Nancy, American forces who crossed the Moselle under the muzzles of Ger-

BELGIAN FORCES HUNT QUISLINGS

Patriot Army Comes Out Of Hiding To Help Drive Out Axis

BY DON WHITHEAD

Chimay, Belgium, Sept. 7 (AP)—Belgium's "white army"—patriots who have resisted the Germans during four years of occupation—has come out of hiding to help Allied armies drive the enemy from Belgian soil. And they are dealing out justice to the rexist quislings who collaborated with the enemy.

Leon Degrelle, greatest Belgian quisling of them all, is reported to have escaped into Germany, but there are many satellites left behind to face the wrath of their own people. When the crisis came they found their Nazi friends would not even bother to give them transportation to the comparative security of Germany.

There were 40 persons from nearby villages, accused by the "white army" of collaboration, herded into barracks here today under guard of youthful members of the Patriot army. With these roving bands were many American youths, airmen who joined the "white army" after parachuting from planes shot down by the enemy.

Ferries At Straits Cut Trips Sept. 16

Lansing, Sept. 7 (AP)—The state highway department today ordered the fall schedule for state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac to become effective September 16.

Under that schedule ferries will leave St. Ignace and Mackinaw City at 6 a. m., Eastern War Time, and run on an hour and a half schedule until 9 p. m.

The schedule will change November 10 to accommodate the deer hunting season travel rush, and from December 1 to December 15 the state will adopt an early winter ferry schedule, operating one boat, with departures every three hours between 6 a. m. and 9 p. m. from St. Ignace, and between 7:30 a. m. and 10:30 p. m. from Mackinaw City.

Lingling U. S. Base Menaced By Japs

Chungking, Sept. 7 (AP)—Large Japanese forces have closed to within 12 miles of the big U. S. air base at Lingling and have sent one column in a swift 35-mile surge in an attempt to outflank it on the west.

The Chinese high command said that a "fierce combat" raged 12 miles northeast of Lingling, which the enemy has tried vainly to knock out from the air.

Other Japanese forces showed up 35 miles beyond positions reported last night. They were within 25 miles of Tungan, which guards Lingling's western approaches. Tungan is about 21 miles west of Lingling.

BOARD IN HAWAII

Honolulu, Sept. 7 (AP)—Army authorities today announced the arrival in Hawaii of the army board that is making an official investigation of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The board, headed by Lt Gen. George Grunert, was expected to remain two weeks.

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Sept. 7 (AP)—Allied air forces, sweeping the skies over Burma almost at will, have begun widespread, long-range attacks on the exposed Japanese lines of supply, a communique announced today.

NEWS FREEDOM PREVENTS WARS

Both Republicans And Democrats Back Move In Congress,

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, Sept. 7. (AP)—Congress was asked today to declare itself in favor of international agreements guaranteeing world-wide freedom of news exchange, and enthusiastic support came quickly from both Democrats and Republicans.

Rep. Fulbright (D-Ark.) proposed a resolution which would put the legislators on record as "believing that the unhindered interchange of independent news would promote a better understanding among nations and thus help prevent future wars."

Applauding, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house Republican leader, said, "I am for a free press and a free radio at all times. And I want to do everything I can to make sure that the United States sets a good example."

Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, commented, "I'm for that."

Souvenir-Loaded Marines Get Home

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 7. (AP)—Still clad in battle gear they wore in their last engagement with the Japanese, 693 members of the Second Marine division have arrived at the Marine base for reclassification preparatory to taking 30-day furloughs.

The veterans of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan and Tinian who have had from 26 to 30 months service overseas were loaded with souvenirs that included knives and sabers, canteens and Japanese battle flags and coins.

GESTAPO PURGES AGAIN

New York, Sept. 7 (AP)—All former members of the Reichstag who have not sworn loyalty to the Nazi party have been arrested in a gestapo round-up, the BBS said tonight in a broadcast heard by NBC.

FIGHTING REDS ARE REPORTED INSIDE GREECE

WARSAW FLANKED ON NORTH NEAR EAST PRUSSIA

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Friday, Sept. 8 (AP)—The German radio said last night that Russian troops fanning out across Bulgaria in a drive toward the Aegean Sea had reached the area of Demotika, which is inside Greece on the Turkish frontier, while other Soviet forces had outflanked Warsaw on the north by hopping the Narew river at a point only 25 miles below East Prussia.

Moscow's communique did not even mention Bulgaria, which already has asked for an armistice after Russia declared war on her Tuesday, nor did it mention the Yugoslav front where a Rome dispatch said the Russians were flooding into that country after capturing Turnu-Severin at the foot of the iron gate rapids on the Danube.

But the Germans in the Balkans, estimated at 260,000 men, were clearly in a dangerous and almost hopeless position.

Bulgaria Invaded

The Yugoslav radio already had announced a junction with Marshal Tito's Partisans and the Russians east of Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, and Allied headquarters in Rome said Allied land troops now were penetrating the country from the Adriatic Sea in a drive to link up with the Red army.

The radio "flash" by DNB, German official news agency, quoted "news from a reliable source" that Soviet motorized forces had crossed into Bulgaria Tuesday at Ruse, opposite the Romanian Danube port of Giurgiu.

Bulgaria is reported to have declared war on Germany.

It is estimated here that Field Marshal Gen. Baron Maximilian Von Weichs, Nazi commander in the Balkans, has 20 divisions at his disposal in Yugoslavia and six divisions in Greece and the islands in the Aegean.

Moscow dispatches suggested the Russians were dropping strong parachute units ahead of their columns racing through western Romania toward Yugoslavia for a junction with the Allies. Once this junction is realized the Germans far to the south will be sealed off and the Allies can turn northward toward Austria and Hungary.

The Soviet communique announced the capture of 3,000 Germans during Wednesday's sweep through Turnu-Severin, 170 miles west of Bucharest.

Tire Holdup Cuts Off Peach Shipping

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP)—Refusal of the OPA to release available truck tires is seriously hampering shipment of approximately 100,000 bushels of peaches daily at Benton Harbor, Mich., Representative Hoffman (R-Mich.) said today.

"The Washington OPA advises me that it will take a week to untangle the red tape and release the tires now in stores at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph," Hoffman told a reporter.

man [illegible] in the hills were forced [illegible] to the west bank in sanguinary fighting, and the Germans inflicted considerable losses as the battle rose in fury.

Assault forces, however, were brought up to the river north of Metz, some 20 miles from the Saar border, to face enemy troops bent on defending to the last the thin buffer zone before Germany.

While the third was earning a slight advantage in the opening round of the battle for Germany, the U. S. First army to the northwest swept across the Meuse River at three points along Europe's historic invasion routes in a storm of enemy small arms and mortar fire.

Calais Cut Off

The British also ran into rough going in northern Belgium, and their push into The Netherlands was cloaked in secrecy.

British, Canadians and Poles to the south cut off the channel ports of Boulogne and Calais, fought into the outskirts of both and could see the cliffs of England gleaming across the Strait.

(Jonkheer O. C. Van Lidth De Jeude, war minister in the Dutch government in exile, said in London Allied troops were pushing deep into The Netherlands "and the prospects are that very soon the enemy will be expelled from our country," Aneta news agency reported.)

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army front now extends from the border of Luxembourg 55 miles southward to the old Lorraine capital of Nancy, which also was reached by advanced elements.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' first army front ran for 75 miles from a point south of Louvain in Belgium to Yoncq, 10 miles southeast of Sedan. It bulged into the Ardennes Forest, where the Germans were deployed strongly but without the artillery needed to check tank thrusts.

BY SID FEDER

Rome, Sept. 7. (AP) — Powerful American armored forces from southern France swept up the Doubs valley east of Chalon-Sur-Saone today in a smash that carried within 70 miles of Belfort Gap—the lone area along the entire lower German frontier where there are no mountains to protect Hitler's Reich.

It is through that passageway in the lowlands between the Vosges range and the Swiss border, that the German 19th army is trying to escape after its crushihg defeat in the south. And it is there, too, that the weary enemy must attempt some sort of defensive stand.

(A border dispatch to the Lausanne, Switzerland, Gazette on Thursday declared that American tanks had entered Montebeliard, only 10 miles southwest of the fortress city of Belfort and approximately 40 miles from the German frontier. There was no Allied confirmation).

An air forces announcement said American Thunderbolt fighters operating from new bases in southern France had smashed a Nazi motor convoy within 20 miles of the German frontier, destroying at least 30 vehicles. The attack apparently occurred between Belfort and the Rhine.

While U. S. troops cleaned out the southern edge of the Doubs valley, seizing the important center of Poligny and Arbois, 26 airline miles southwest of Besancon, French forces farther west poured along the upper side of the valley, apparently to prevent and Germans reaching the flatlands escape route.

Program Of Unlimited Civilian Production After War Outlined

Washington, (AP)—A program for virtually unlimited civilian production after Germany's defeat was announced by the War Production Board.

J. A. Krug, acting chairman of the WPB, said the army, navy and major war agencies had unanimously agreed on the program, designed to provide the utmost stimulus to reconversion after Germany's defeat. But at the same time protecting production necessary for the Japanese war.

The board estimated there would be a reduction of about 40 per cent in war production within three months after the defeat of Germany and that this will free more than 4,000,000 workers. It decided on the following program:

1. Removal of almost all controls over materials immediately on Germany's defeat except those absolutely necessary to assure the necessary war production to defeat Japan. This means that any manufacturer can use any plants and any materials that are not needed for military production.

2. The War Production Board and other government agencies will use their full powers to assist and encourage industry in resuming civilian production and maintaining employment through the "knowhow" of its industry divisions and industry-labor advisory committees.

3. The board will maintain its organization and powers so as not to relinquish authority until it is certain that the war production program is adequate for victory over Japan.

Krug outlined the program following a meeting of the full board. He said the decision was made after a re-survey of the military and production situation.

In brief, he said the purpose is two-fold:

First to assure full military production until Japan is defeated and second, to free civilian enterprise to the utmost.

Industry will be allowed, according to the availability of markets, men, materials and plants "to do the swiftest and most effective job possible of restoring production, making whatever people want and affording maximum employment, just as quickly as possible," Krug said.

Under the plan, there will be only one preference rating, in addition to the present emergency triple-A rating, and this will be reserved exclusively for military programs during the war against Japan.

All other production will be unrated, and manufacturers will be permitted to accept unrated articles but they will be required to fill rated military orders ahead of other business.

After Germany's defeat there will be no "programming" of civilian production.

Krug said maximum civilian output could be achieved without detailed priorities regulation from Washington.

The WPB, however, will retain its industry divisions and its industry division requirements committees whose job will be "to make certain that no one is permitted to procure an unreasonable amount of any material or product," and to "see that needed materials are made available to such essential civilian activities as transportation, utilities, and fuel, and that small business is given an opportunity to obtain materials and supplies," Krug said.

A few allocation orders will be continued for "tight" materials such as lumber, textiles and certain chemicals.

The controlled materials plan for allocating steel and copper will be continued only for the quarter in which hostilities in Europe cease.

Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Commissioner, attended the meeting and said the commission soon would announce a program for manpower after Germany's defeat designed to dovetail with the WPB program.

Sardines From Sardinia

The Mediterranean island of Sardinia gave sardines their name. Known there as pilchards, it was the place where the small fish were prepared by soaking in brine, drying, and frying in olive oil.

The nation's first strike was called by journeymen printers in New York in 1776.

With The AEF

Kenneth L. Dixon

WITH THE AEF IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 23 (delayed) (AP)—The speed of this fast breaking front is giving doughboys a rest from walking—and in more ways than one.

In the first place they are riding trucks part of the time, except when they have to stop to clean out what the ommunique always call 'small pockets of resistance."

Dixon

For another, they are capturing enemy vehicles varying from Volkswagons to bicycles.

One infantry squad had to pause in the village of Peyrolles, near the Durance river. They drove the enemy out so fast that equipment of all kinds was abandoned in frantic haste: toilet articles, footwear, clothes, etc. But more important were the bicycles.

Pvt. Vernon Sutherland, of Cranston, R. I., grabbed the first bicycle and started strapping the barrel of a machinegun on it. It looked like the doughboys might have more walking ahead for the Maquis reported other "pockets of resistance" in the immediate area.

So Vernon didn't aim to walk. Neither did Pvt. James Bolin, Sullivan, Ill., who appropriated the next Kraut bicycle for himself and then started collecting others.

"I will get this whole column motorized if I can have a little time to look around," James shouted.

Meanwhile, Pvt. Everett Hanna, Decatur, Ill., was topping everybody. He slipped into a building which had been used as a garage by the Germans and got himself a motorcycle.

The squad of soldiers reassembled. An aged French villager stepped out and gave a tricolor to Pvt. Eugene Richardson, Hermandale, Mo. He placed it on his bicycle.

Then the strange half-motorized column got into motion. The villager straightened up and saluted the cavalcade as it wound slowly down the streets of Peyrolles.

* * *

Once when I was with an advanced motorized unit I heard a strange order being passed sharply back from truck to truck—and the soldiers who spent five months trying to gain a couple of thousand yards at Cassino let out howls of laughter when it reached our vehicle.

It said "this advance will be held down to the rate of 15 miles per hour."

* * *

The advance is so fast an armored column ran off two maps—but still kept going. They borrowed French road maps from the Maquis, but there were not enough of them to go around.

So Sgt. Oscar Merver, of New York City, and Capt. Tom Piddington of Plainfield, N. J., had to draw a freehand map on the back of a piece of scrap paper to show me roughly what the situation ahead seemed to be.

One good reason why such swift advances were possible was shown when we captured a German general and corps headquarters. His desk contained official papers showing where the German intelligence said our invasion was going to land in Southern France. The papers were dated ten days before we hit the beaches east of Marseilles. They showed how the defenses were all set up to greet us.

The only trouble was that the defending troops were waiting west of Marseille, and from there to the Spanish border.

Kolich Case Not Polio, Doctor Says

Dolores Kolich, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kolich, North Escanaba, who was taken to Marquette last week for observation after she developed a high fever, has developed no other symptoms of polio, Dr. Cooperstock, director of the Children's Clinic, has informed Dr. M. A. Elstein, local health director.

The child will remain at Marquette for several days for further observation.

wants to start out in business for himself.

"We cannot succeed with a controlled and regulated society under a government which destroys incentive, chokes production, fosters disunity, and discourages men with vision and imagination from creating employment and opportunity."

This big convention hall, seating 15,000, was opened at 7:30 p. m. Eastern War Time, two and a half hours before the Governor and Mrs. Dewey mounted the flower-banked rostrum. Within one hour it was more than three-quarters filled, but there still was an expense of vacant seats in the far gallery when Dewey arrived.

While waiting for the speakers the audience sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and other songs. Governors Walter E. Edge of New Jersey and Walter W. Bacon of Delaware were introduced.

American flags were passed out at the gates and the nominee's appearance was the signal for a frenzied whipping of the air.

The ovation continued for five minutes.

Lend-Lease Sets Record

May, 1944, marked a new high in lend-lease shipments, military supplies and food aggregating $1,159,000,000 to bring the total to more than $20,500,000,000 since March, 1941.

Chicago Tourist Office Is Opened

Formal opening of Michigan's new out-of-state office at Chicago will be held on September 8, it was announced here by George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council.

The new office is located at 222 North Michigan avenue, has a frontage of 24 feet on Michigan avenue and a depth of 120 feet. It has a fine show window on Michigan avenue, is modernally and artistically furnished and will be Michigan's new point of contact with Chicago and its residents.

The office will be under the management of the Michigan Tourist council and will be jointly operated by the Michigan Marketing council, so that the office will serve as a sales contact for the recreational appeals of Michigan as well as the agricultural products of Michigan.

On the average, the moon rises 50 minutes later each day.

QUINCY PLANT GRINDING AWAY

Reclamation Mill Taking Copper Tailings From Torch Lake

The Quincy Mining Co., Hancock, pioneer in the mining of native copper from amygdaloid lodes on the Keweenaw copper range of northern Michigan, is grinding away on its first year of operation of the new reclamation plant at Mason, Mich., the well known mill site of the Quincy company on the west shore of Torch lake. With over a half century of copper mining and milling, a large storage of tailings have been discharged during the long period of milling.

The type of mill tailings in the Quincy Torch lake reserve is amygdaloid, which requires fine grinding, followed by flotation. The tailings in the lake bed are minus 3-16 inch in size as delivered to the reclamation plant by the dredge, and are ground to minus 35 mesh in the reclamation plant for subsequent treatment in six conical ball mills, each in closed circuit with a 66-inch Akins Classifier. The ball mills are each eight feet long by 72 inches in diameter. Slimes associated with the lake bed tailings after thickening go direct to flotation machines in the reclamation process. The lake bed tailings as fed to the plant carry about eight pounds of copper per ton of tailings.

Operation In Four Units

The Quincy reclamation operation consists of four units: (1) Dredge to dig, pump and deliver through pontoon floated pipe line to shore plant. (2) Shore plant classification house. (3) Gallery house with conveyor belt to elevate coarse material from shore plant to regrinding plant. (4) Regrinding plant and concentrating equipment with ball mills, flotation machines with necessary equipment for dewatering.

Cost Of Reclamation Copper

The Quincy reclamation plant was erected under a contract with the Metals Reserve Co., and went into operation Nov. 1, 1943, for the recovery of copper from waste sands (tailings) deposited in Torch lake from No. 1 stamp mill. The plant was not fully completed at that time, but the production of 687,920 pounds of refined copper during the first two months of the operation showed a cost of 10.17 cents per pound of refined copper. In the first four months of the current year the new reclamation plant produced 1,816,788 pounds of refined copper at cost of about ten cents, before depreciation charges.

It is estimated that Quincy's share of the operating profits during the continuance of the government contract, or until the $1,200,000 advanced for the erection of the plant has been repaid, will amount to approximately $100,000 annually.

PRISONER — First Lt. Ewald A. Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Swanson of 1129 Stephenson avenue, yesterday was reported a prisoner of war of the German government. He was first reported missing in action since July 14 when a Flying Fortress he was flying failed to return from a mission to Budapest, Hungary.

In describing the circumstance under which First Lt. Swanson was taken prisoner, Major General N. F. Twining wrote the parents that:

"Though complete information is not available, reports from crews flying in Ewald's formation indicate that a flak burst scored a direct hit on your son's plane as it was attacking the oil refineries which were the target. The crippled plane did not go out of control immediately and six parachutes were seen emerging before the falling aircraft passed out of sight."

First Lt. Swanson has been in service three years. Two years ago he transferred from the medical corps to the air corps. He has engaged in 37 missions over Europe from his base in Italy.

We Are Paying the Price

THE greatest threat to the homes of America, foundations of the American way of life, is the war time necessity for the employment of millions of wives and mothers in war plants of the nation. This necessity is soundly charged with being responsible for the wave of juvenile delinquency that has swept America, particularly in war industry sections. Today employment of these millions of wives in war production is resulting in a startling wave of wife murder in these same war production centers. In Michigan such crimes are being chronicled almost daily in the newspapers of the state. It is reasonable to presume that other war production centers, throughout the nation, are recording similar crimes in comparable volume.

Millions of families have migrated to the war production centers, to establish a semblance of family life in trailers, shacks or over-crowded apartments. The husband is employed on one shift in a war plant, while the wife works on another shift. Children of the family, if any, are largely left to their own devices. The necessary association of wives with the men with whom they work, engenders jealousy. Jealousy plants the seeds of murder in the hearts and minds of worried husbands.

The head-lines in the daily papers of Michigan today, tell their own story.

For the sake of restoration of normal home life in America, God speed the day when the necessity for women workers in war industries no longer exists.

That condition, apparently, can only be brought by the achievement of final victory.

Relief for Britons

AFTER undergoing the inconveniences of the blackout the last five years, the people of Britain doubtless are cheered by the official announcement that the rigid security regulations will be relaxed on Sept. 17. Streets will be much better lighted, and some of the civilian defense activities will be discontinued.

Additional cause for rejoicing was given the courageous Britons when the Allied armies seized most of the coastal area across the channel from which the Nazis were hurling their devastating rocket bombs. Before the week is over, all the robot launching ramps doubtless will be put out of commission. The once-dreaded Luftwaffe also has been busily preoccupied elsewhere and has not dropped any bombs on English communities for some weeks.

The British people have survived five years of terrifying warfare, an experience that fortunately was denied civilians on the American home front. They have earned their respite from war, although like the Americans their men are still fighting and dying on foreign soil.

In this war the civilians, unlike in World War I, have participated more actively in the fighting. The horrors of war have been brought home to them. Particularly this has been true for the German non-combatants. In the past, Germany has always fought its wars outside her own borders, but modern aerial warfare has brought destruction to her own homes and factories. For the first time, Germany's soil is being trodden by the soldiers of an invading enemy force.

The German people should realize by this time that only death and destruction can be gained by war. It is to be hoped that their future generations will remember this.

Docks for Disposal

WORD comes from Washington that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is now making an inventory of government-owned plants built for wartime use to determine what peacetime use can be made of the properties.

Included in the list of government properties are the two partially-built Escanaba ore docks, the construction of which furnished Delta county with an unprecedented boom to the tune of about $19,000,000.

Work on the dock project was ordered at a time when it was feared that England could not withstand the Luftwaffe's blitzgrieg and would be knocked out of the war, leaving the United States to defend herself. Eighty-five per cent of the nation's iron ore supply moves through the Sault locks, and it was reasoned by the military supply experts that if this vital artery were severed by enemy bombs an alternative shipping route through Escanaba would insure the continued flow of this strategic war material.

The Escanaba ore dock project was launched simply as an insurance measure, and was not conceived as a permanent plan for the movement of iron ore from the Lake Superior region. When the fortunes of war turned in favor of the Allies and the Axis threat to our inland transportation facilities was decided to be no longer existent, the dock project was abandoned as suddenly as it was launched.

How the RFC will dispose of the incompleted docks has not been disclosed as yet. Whether the Chicago and North Western railway would be interested in bidding for the property has not been indicated in any official quarters. In view of the fact that there is a timber shortage that is expected to continue for some time after the war is over, the salvaging of the property for other construction purposes is also a possibility.

Wood Waste Boom

PEACETIME production of synthetic rubber and other products needing a cheap source of industrial alcohol may depend on utilization of wastes from wood and paper mills, according to Dr. J. A. Hall, chief biochemist of the United States Forest Service.

Dr. Hall is not given to any rash predictions. He is a scientist, who does not make any public announcements until he is sure of his facts. Incidentally, Dr Hall supervised the experiments that were made during the past year at the Cliffs Dow Chemical company's pilot plant at Marquette to improve a German process for the production of wood sugar and grain alcohol from sawdust and other sawmill wastes.

During World War I, several million gallons of ethyl alcohol were made from wood through a sulphuric acid process, but the plants were closed down when peace returned. A few years afterward, Dr. Scholler, a German scientist, developed a quicker and more economical process that produced from 50 to 60 gallons of alcohol fro ma ton of waste wood. His method was adopted by the Tornesch Distilling company plant near Hamburg for the extensive manufacture of alcohol. However, when Hitler rose to power, the non-Aryan owners of the concern were liquidated and told to leave the country.

The head of the Tornesch company, Erwin Schaefer and his two partners eventually came to America, and offered their services to produce the alcohol needed to defeat Hitlerism Working under Dr. Hall, they conducted some of the experiments at the Marquette pilot plant under the joint sponsorship of the Forest Service and the Timber Engineering company, affiliate of the American Forest Products Industries, Inc. Recently, the Defense Plant Corporation alloted over two million dollars to build a plant for the Willamette Valley Wood Chemical company at Springfield, Ore., to utilize the Schaefer-Scholler process. Other similar plants are also planned.

Dr. Hall predicts that alcohol, at 10 cents a gallon or less, will become available for motor fuel and for other uses precluded by its prewar price. In Europe production of sugar, alcohol, cattle feed and other products from wood wastes was on a fairly large scale before the war, but the development attracted little attention in the United States until the synthetic rubber and munitions programs taxed the capacity of the distilling industry.

Time was when lumbermen did not know what to do with their superabundance of sawdust and other sawmill wastes. What they could not use for fuel in the steam plants, they destroyed in the volcano-like burners or "hogs." There likely will be very little destructive burning of sawmill waste in the future.

The Ballad of a Bewildered Miss.

* * *

Again the little girl next door
Came timidly into
My study, and she climbed upon my knee.
"Oh, sir," said she, "I am confused
About the sound of 'shoe.
The word should rhyme with 'hoe,' its seems to me."

She sighed a bit; and then: "I've thought
Until my poor head whirls;
The word that we call 'hose' gives me the blues.
It seems that it should rhyme with 'dose'."
She sadly shook her curls.
"It doesn't, sir, nor does it rhyme with 'lose'."

By now her cheeks were wet with tears.
She sobbed, "Pray tell me why
The three words 'blood' and 'food' and 'good' don't match.
And then there's 'done' and 'gone' and 'lone.'
No matter how I try,
I cannot see why 'watch' is not like 'patch'."

I held her tight I stroked her hair,
And crooned, "There, there, my pet."
But still she cried, "Consider 'come' and 'home.'
I've asked a hundred persons, but
I've found no reason yet
Why 'bomb' and 'tomb' should differ, sir, from 'comb'."

I soothed the child as best I could,
And quiet soon she grew.
She nestled in my arms, and ceased to weep.
Then shortly came a whisper, "Why
Is 'new' pronounced like 'few,'
And not like 'sew'?" And then she fell asleep.

SOISSONS, city on the Aisne (en, to rhyme with "men"), northeast of Paris. The "soi-" is similar to the "swa-" of "swag." The final "s" is silent. Say: swa-SAW(N).

COMPIEGNE, town west of Soissons, and scene of signing of 1918 armistice. The name ends with a barely audible "yuh" vanish. Say: kaw(n)-PYEN-yuh.

CHALONS, city on the Marne southeast of Reims (ra(n)ss). The "s" is silent. Say: shad-LAW(N).

VERDUN, city northeast of Chalons on river Meuse. Caution. The second syllable is not "dun" nor "doon." The "u" has a sound similar to the "u" of "urn," but with no trace of "r". Say: vair-DU(N).

SEDAN, city on river Meuse, 10 miles from border of Luxembourg. The "e" is obscured. Say: suh-DAH(N).

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

The Nazis talk big about new and more devastating secret weapons. Their claims of the potency of the as yet unrevealed weapons, indeed, are in direct proportion to the speed and size of their defeats.

These threats, of course, are the consequence of two facts: (1) Dire military necessity—the need that is, to match the overwhelming Allied quantities of force by some surprise innovation; and (2) the importance of bolstering German morale, at home and in the field.

Seversky

From many directions even the possibility that the Nazis are preparing to use poison gas against us as a weapon of desperation" is raised. Should this be true, they would be flirting with mass extermination. For if ever a nation could ill afford to invoke this weapon, it is Germany today.

—WE COULD RETALIATE—

With our present decesive superiority in the skies over Germany, we are in the most advantageous position to get the maximum results from the use of poison gas in retaliation. Unless they have lost the last shred of the instinct of self-preservation, it is hard to believe that the Germans would bring into play a method of destruction that could only boomerang against them.

As to any other new or secret weapon, the vital element in the equation is the German lack of industrial capacity, as a result of our strategic bombardment. No matter how remarkable any novel weapon may be, its effectiveness will depend on the volume in which it can be produced. The rapidity with which the German industrial potential has shrunk, plus our ability to continue shrinking it, is the best guarantee we have against Hitler's secret weapons, no matter how deadly they may be.

There is room for speculation as to the character of the new weapons the Germans may be experimenting with. The main threat to Germany, as it draws its forces inside its own frontiers, is undoubtedly represented by Allied air bombardment. That is the factor which cancels out every real possibility of turning Germany into a "fortress," within which it can produce these marvel weapons to repel the Allied assault with hideous losses to our forces.

Therefore, from the German point of view, the strategic bomber must be destroyed. And it is reasonable to assume that they must be thinking and searching for some means of accomplishing this. One attempt along these lines has already had its debut, in the German jet-propelled fighter using rocket ammunition. This innovation for a while loomed dangerously. It was able to elude our fighter escorts and inflict serious damage on our bombing forces. But the damage has not been decisive and could not impede our operations. Again it was inadequate industrial capacity, limiting the number of these planes they could put in the skies, which played into our hands.

—SEEK REMOTE DETONATION—

Another solution which military scientists know is always possible because it has so often been discussed and experimented with, comes to mind. We must assume that the Germans have been seeking some method of detonating explosives while they are still in their magazines—that is to say, to explode bombs before they are dropped and thus destroy the planes which carry them.

As a military problem there is nothing new about this, but a solution, as far as we know, has not yet been found. If some method could be found to detonate T.N.T., let us say, by remote means, the whole air picture would change—at least until a counter-measure could be developed.

One day, of course, some method will be found, either by firing shells containing the appropriate detonating charge or perhaps through some form of electronic force. But even assuming the worst, that Germany has such a solution up its sleeve, our strategic bombardment would be stymied only temporarily, and certainly not long enough to alter the course of the war.

The respite to German industry and the lift to Nazi morale would last only as long as it took us to perfect counter-measures. In the first place, the explosive itself could be substituted for new ones already under development, and the enemy's detonators would be ineffective. The Germans would then face the problem of discovering a new method. In addition, bomb bays could be appropriately armored and, should we have to face any electronic device, ray or other method of remote detonation, they could be correspondingly shielded. Whatever the threat, a remedy would be found to match. Given our vastly superior resources and unmolested industrial capacity, it would be once more merely a question of time before we reestablished our superiority.

All of this, of course, is in the realm of speculation. The best the Germans can hope for from the most miraculous weapons would be a delay. Since they failed to provide themselves with a strategic air force which could assume command of the air over the British Isles in order to destroy its industrial capacity and isolate it from the rest of the world, their doom is sealed.

THE NEW DIET—Blood donors of Delta county are on a fashionable diet for at least one meal this week. They must abstain from all fatty foods for at least four hours before reporting at the blood plasma clinic—which helps out with the nation's wartime shortage of fats.

Dunathan

At the Rotary Club luncheon Louis Hermel of the U. S. Forest Service was on "the blood donor's diet"—had to have a special plate lunch minus fats. It wasn't the first time for him, incidentally. In fact it was rather an old story. He has given blood several times before coming to Escanaba.

By way of explanation, the fatty foods will cause the plasma to be faulty if the donor partakes of them less than four hours before the blood is taken. That's why the warning.

And speaking of food—it surprises Escanaba PTA members serving refreshments at the blood clinic how much the donors can consume. Before giving blood they drink a glass of fruit juice. Afterwards they like to sit around and drink coffee, munch sandwiches and cookies. And while they eat they talk about their experiences, compare notes—making the food disappear like a group of Chinese refugees.

GARDEN SEQUEL — A few days back the gardening experience of County Agricultural Agent E. A. Wenner was presented. You will recall that Wenner's backyard victory garden ailed and failed—because there was a leak in a city gas line. The gas even killed trees in the garden area, too.

City Manager George E. Bean says this is not unusual, but usually the city is able to detect the leaks and correct the fault before much damage is done. Most of the leaks occur at pipe joints sealed many years ago with a rubber compound, which is breaking open with age. Since 1924 lead has been used at the joints.

Every two years the city hires an expert to come here to "spot" the leaks. His experience and training is such that he can, by looking at the foliage along the alleys, tell whether there is an underground break in the gas lines. He is taken for a ride over the city's whole gas line system, points out the places where the effects of leaking gas are visible. A marker is stuck in the ground and crews come back to make the repair later.

This was the in-between year of his visits to Escanaba — and this was the year that the Wenner garden took it on the chin.

OLD-FASHIONED KIND—The newspaper world used to have what was called "the traveling printer." He was usually inclined to the gentle art of drinking too much strong drink, and he kept traveling because he seldom held a job long in one place. There used to be, also, the "floating reporter" who literally floated into town and out again on a wave of liquor. Those days and those men seemed gone forever—

Then the other day Escanaba was visited by a reporter of the old-fashioned kind in modern garb. His appearance was of the best and he carried a brief case of imposing proportions. Inside the brief case were clippings, letters, etc., to prove he was once a foreign correspondent.

With admirable skill he gently wangled a dollar here and there, had checks endorsed, talked a bottle of wine across the counter, and walked out of a local hotel without the formality of checking out or paying up. The police, along with other folks, are looking for him.

HOW TO DO IT—If you get lost in the woods, take a tip from Marius Nelsen of 417 South 18th street, Escanaba.

Nelsen was lost in the woods for about 24 hours, from Monday noon to Tuesday noon, in a wilderness country in southern Marquette county 52 miles from Escanaba.

Starting out on what he thought would be a little walk, Nelsen could not find the trail back to the Robert Olson camp. Calmly he set about trying to find a way out. He didn't hurry—as most people do when they are alone an dlost in the woods. Rather he deliberately slowed down, and through the long cold night rested frequently. Tuesday morning he came out on the road, made his way to camp, arriving there about noon.

His family in Escanaba was reassured by a message from the state police, who were called into the search and by radio and telephone saved them hours of worry. At home later Nelsen's only inclination was to catch up on his sleep. He still wasn't excited.

* * *

KIDS FIND A WAY—Children find a way to get around cumbersome last names — especially if they are encouraged to do so by the owner of the unpronounable handle.

For instance, last year there was a public school teacher in the grades in Escanaba whose last name just couldn't be pronounced by the children. Before many days the teacher became known as "Miss Martha." Her name? Martha Siekkinen. Now it's changed for she married and left Escanaba.

At Carnegie Public Library the children find it difficult to pronounce the name of the children's librarian. So she has become "Miss Jean" to the little tots who can't say Miss Trantanella.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Attendance in the city schools showed a reduction of 60 pupils compared with 1933 totals. Enrollment was 2,817. Junior high had the largest group with 701 students and senior high was second with 574.

Jane Glavin won the 1934 women's championship of the Escanaba Golf club Friday, defeating Mrs. Nick Gunter in the finals, 4 and 3. Miss Glavin came through the semi-finals by winning over Marjorie Nee, 8 and 6.

The Gladatone city commission endorsed a proposed bond issue of $24,000 for the purchase of materials for water works improvements. Taxpayers were to vote on the proposal at a special election Tuesday.

20 Years Ago—1924

Miss Marie Scheriff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Scheriff, and Miss Vernice Paquin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paquin, graduates of the class of 1924 at St. Joseph high school, will leave for Prairie Du Chien, Wis., to attend St. Mary's academy. The two young ladies were winners of scholarships during their senior year.

A sheep show emphasizing both wool and mutton breeds will be one of the many educational features of the Northern State fair to be held here Sept. 16 to 19.

National defense day will be properly observed in Manistique on Friday, Sept. 12. A committee in charge of the program included Prosecuting Attorney Virgil Hixson, Mrs. A. S. Putnam, Mrs. Fred Monroe, George Brusie and Wilfred Beaudoin.

25 Years Ago—1919

New equipment for the sheet metal shop and foundry to be installed in the manual training department of the high school has arrived and will be put to use at once. Chancey Barnes, instructor in printing, stated that about 40 young people had enrolled in the day and night classes.

Subscriptions for $50,000 worth of Delta county road bonds have been accepted by County Clerk Albert J. Pepin in blocks of $500 to $1500.

The Lyons Den

NEW YORK—Vice President Wallace went to Louisville to visit Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ethridge. Before Wallace arrived Mrs. Ethridge, whose newest book is "This Little Pig Stayed at Home," had her children clean the windows and polish the furniture. The youngsters worked for hours, cleaning and scrubbing. Then the eldest girl paused and asked: "Mother, what kind of a man is the Vice President?" "Oh, he's a very simple man," said Mrs. Ethridge. "If Henry Wallace is a simple man," replied the girl, "then we've gone to an awful lot of unnecessary trouble."

* * *

AT THE AIRPORT in Louisville two soldiers approached Wallace and asked for his autograph. He wrote his name on the small pieces of paper they gave him. The soldiers thanked him and left. A few minutes later they were back. "We showed it to our buddies," the soldiers told him, "and they said people won't believe this is the Henry A. Wallace who is Vice President of the United States". Wallace asked for the pieces of paper and under his signature he added "V. P."

SGT. ROBERT HOPKINS left his billet in France to go prowling for some cognac. He noticed a convoy of cars and trucks and recognized a friend of his in one of the lead cars. It was Winston Churchill. Sgt. Hopkins, attached to a photographic unit, had his movie camera with him. He was delighted to learn that no other photographers were present. He returned to his billet with the exclusive pictures of Churchill's arrival in France. "Yeah, but what about the cognac?" his buddies demanded. He produced that, too.

GERTUDE LAWRENCE returns from England on the 15th . . . For the first time in the history of the publishing business, completed bookplates were scrapped without ever being used, and new plates made so that less paper would be required in printing. This was done last week by Doubleday, Doran for Joe E. Brown's forthcoming book about his tour. The new plates will allow a one-third saving of the paper required . . . Bob Hope, flying across the South Pacific, tells the aviators there: "I've got more flying time in now than Bing Crosby's stork." . . . Grace Moore was surprised at the news that her home at Nice is intact. TULLULAH BANKHEAD recently decided to learn how to drive a car, because of the shortage of chauffeurs. An auto agency sent an instructor to Miss Bankhead's home in Hollywood, and they drove out for her first lesson. "You're going about it the wrong way," Tallulah corrected him. "You're just trying to tell me how to drive a car. I'll never learn that way. With a woman like me, what you must do is make me interested in learning how to drive."

SALVADOR DALI, who is doing the dream sets for Alfred Hitchcock's new picture, was brought into the picture at the last minute. Dali, who says he can't speak English, wanted to see the script, but there wasn't time to translate it into French . . . He and his agent Felix Ferry, went to Hitchcock's house, where the director related the plot to them. Hitchcock told it in English, while Ferry, a Rumanian, translated it into French for Dali, a Spaniard . . . Then Hitchcock began to discuss the amount of money which Dali would receive. "That," said the surrealist painter, "I understand myself."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—The inside story can now be told regarding one of the greatest worries of the Allied High Command in connection with the Normandy invasion — namely, casualties. It was feared they would be terrifically high.

Pearson

In fact, Prime Minister Churchill, who had hung back from a cross-channel front for two years, feared the Allies might suffer losses comparable to the early days of the last war, when the cream of British manhood, then relatively untrained, was mowed down in Flanders field. He frequently told FDR that he was worried about losing the "seed" of Britain.

This worry gives an insight into the sudden change between the type of slow fighting during the first few weeks in Normandy and the headlong onrush of today.

Allied orders during the early weeks in Normandy were to advance under a "curtain of steel." As a result, the greatest artillery barrage ever laid down in history was thrown at the Germans in advance of Allied infantry. It was an artillery barrage so heavy that it wiped out almost everything in its path.

However, it was slow. It took time to unload big guns on shallow beaches. It also took time to batter down German positions. But once these positions were battered down, and the rim of German defense was broken, the Allies found what General Eisenhower knew was the case—a complete military vacuum inside.

In other words, the Nazis had staked everything on holding the rim, had no defenses in the interior. That is the explanation for the headlong rush of Allied forces in recent weeks. The Nazis were gambling on their Atlantic Wall, a wall which could not stand up under Bradley's "curtain of steel."

NOTE—General Montgomery's cautious advances in Normandy probably reflected in part Churchill's worry over casualties. However, he has been cautious in other areas also. Before the Battle of El Alamein, when the British Army had been pushed back and back across the desert toward Cairo, Montgomery queried his chief, General Alexander: "What casualties can I take?" Alexander, with the fate of the Suez Canal at stake, replied: "One hundred percent." Caution, of course, is no reflection on courage.

—CHIANG AND SON—

The way the story of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's 16-year-old concubine got started, according to high Chinese sources, was indirectly through his son.

The Generalissimo ("Jissimo" to his friends) has been living in the summer palace with his second son, who is young, attractive, and has his quota of girl friends. One young lady in particular has been in the summer palace longer than the others, all of which gave rise to the unfortunate rumor that this was why Madame Chiang Kai-Shek left home.

The young lady may marry the Jissimo's son.

This son, who happens to be Chiang's favorite, was born of a Japanese mother. Chiang went to the Japanese West Point as a young man.

His eldest son went to Moscow as a youngster, made pro-Communist speeches and said a good many uncomplimentary things about the political views of his father. Chiang doesn't particularly care for him, and it's mutual. He does care for his second son.

—SAILOR'S OUTMODED UNIFORM—

Now that Admiral Ernie ("Clothes Horse") King has finally relented and will let naval officers shed their jackets under certain conditions in hot weather, a lot of sailors wish he would also examine the uniform of the enlisted man.

Most enlisted men would whoop with joy if their present, long-outmoded uniform was discarded. What most people don't realize is that the sailor's uniform was designed by the British about two hundred years ago and is now just as outmoded as the sailing ship.

Take, for instance, the broad collar worn over the shoulders. It was designed for vermin-infested ships of the 1700's, when sailors had to be deloused and a broad collar was practicable to catch the tar oils used in a sailor's hair.

Again, the bell-shaped trousers, which flap around the ankles and nearly trip the wearer when he runs, were designed for days when sailors rolled their trousers up over their legs to scrub docks. Today, dungarees are provided for this sort of work.

Again the drop-front, 13-button trousers were designed for a day two centuries ago when tidiness was nothing like what it is today.

One thing which particularly gripes the enlisted man is the tight-fitting waist of his blouse, which has to be slipped on and off over his head. If a sailor is dumped into the water and has to swim for any length of time, it is almost impossible to get this blouse off. It is tight, sticks to the body, and you can't very well swim and at the same time hold two arms above your head while you wriggle out of your middy.

Some of the boys wish that Admiral King would take off his new grey-green uniform, designed for him by His Majesty's tailor in London, long enough to experiment with a middy-blouse in the water. They think that, despite a century's delay, he would then design for them a new uniform overnight.

With the Germans, instead of two sides to the question there are three—from Russia, from Italy and from France.

College students who take seriously the job of climbing the tree of knowledge aren't as likely to be left out on a limb.

Wounded Soldiers Are Given The Best of Care

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington— Anyone who wants to know what this war really means for the men who are doing the fighting should go to the Army's England General Hospital in Atlantic City.

Childs

Some of the wounded you see at England General are back only two or three weeks from the fighting fronts in Europe and the Pacific. They go first to Haddon Hall and the Chalfonte, two of the big resort hotels taken over by the Army.

Haddon Hall is the operating center. An almost steady stream of men flows through the operating rooms. They are being patched and mended either for return to civilian life or for further service in the Army.

When their convalesence is somewhat advanced, they are moved to the Traymore Hotel, which is known as a "reconditioning facility." At the Traymore they again pick up something like Army discipline. In fact, in some respects it's a rather strict discipline.

They get a great deal of organized physical exercise on the beach and in the surf. They police their own quarters. They do some drill. They hear reorientation lectures.

Train New Troops

Under the Army's policy, men who are battle casualties are returned to service if their physical condition meets a certain minimum. Because of their combat experience, they are especially valuable for training new troops. That represents a "clarification" of earlier policy, under which medical discharges were given if the individual soldier preferred a discharge to return to limited service.

There is strong resentment of the present policy. The morale problem, to use the Army term, is a rather serious one. Most of the men have suffered battle wounds, many have been gravely injured. Others have been racked by Malaria for months on end, or they are victims of combat fatigue and ranked as psychoneurotic. They believe they've done their duty and are now entitled to an honorable discharge.

Partly this feeling grows out of what they see around them. Coming from the stinking hell of the Pacific, or the murderous, incessant grind of France and Italy, they are plunked down in one of America's gaudiest resorts in the middle of the biggest season in history.

Believe me, the contrast is terrific. These men, whose eyes have seen such horrors as we can never imagine, look out from their hospital windows onto the pleasure-seeking crowds that at all hours of the day and night stream up and down the boardwalk. They are told about total war, and yet here are able-bodied civilians who apparently have nothing better to do than seek amusement.

Vicariously, I got the force of this contrast in two ways. First was by talking with the men themselves. Then, having an idle hour in the course of my 24-hour visit, I went to a movie and saw the United States Signal Corps film "Attack," which is a record of the taking of Arawe, a secondary objective on New Britain.

Movie Has Everything

It is one of the most remarkable documents to come out of this war. "Attack" doesn't leave out much. It's as close as most of us will come to the real thing. There is a sequence made on Christmas day, with the heavy tropical rain falling on the quick and the dead alike, that gives a sense of the bleakness, the remoteness, the never-ending threat of nature and the enemy, which must be always with our men in the Pacific.

I stepped out of the theater feeling almost as though I had been at Arawe myself. I stepped out onto the Boardwalk with its myriad lights, its sauntering throngs, its crowded restaurants and bars.

Are we fighting for this? That was the question that framed itself in my mind, as I knew it must have in the minds of those men who had come back from the real thing.

Well, in a sense, yes. But the contrast is too great. It is too great for these men who are being "reconditioned" to go back into the service of their country.

AUTO MAKERS READY TO GO

Can Start Production Of Cars Four Months After Signal

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, (AP)—Most of the nation's motorcar makers will be back in passenger car production within four months after the government gives the signal, but they will require more than a year to attain the high production level necessary to cut into accumulated consumer demand.

This is indicated by a survey of virtually all the passenger car manufacturers. Their post war planning is based upon the assumption that the industry will have to reach a 6,000,000-units-a-year production rate as quickly as possible and maintain it for at least three years to balance demand and output on an approximately normal basis.

At 6,000,000 vehicles annually production would be up more than 50 per cent over the normal yearly output and each of the car manufacturers expects to get his full share of the increase.

One of the outstanding facts the study of the car industry's post war planning discloses is that the average car owner will have to make his present vehicle meet his requirements for many months after the war. Some would-be new car buyers, of course, will be able to get new models during the first year after the resumption of production has been authorized. Early delivery will be one of the things aimed at by the merchandising organization in carrying out its competitive strategy.

OVER 700 SENT SO'DIER BALLOT

Absent Voter's Ballot Reqquests Exceeding Expectations

More than 700 requests for absent voter's ballots have already been received through County Clerk Theodore Ohlen's office from men and women in the armed forces from Delta county. Besides this the city and townships clerks have also received additional applications.

The demand for absent voter's ballots by servicemen exceeded expectations here and throughout the state. The supply of envelopes for mailing out the ballots was temporarily exhausted and mailing was halted for a couple days until more were received.

To yesterday the county clerk's office had received, through the state program, 686 applications for ballots from servicemen. Besides this the clerk's office had received about 20 directly.

The applications are referred to the city and townships clerk in the voting precinct in which the servicemen resides, and the ballot is mailed by the clerk of that voting unit. Generally the majority of the applications are from servicemen overseas, although there are many from soldiers in this country.

Servicemen home on leave or furlough may vote while they are at home. All they have to do is go to the clerk of the township or city in which they reside, obtain the absent voter's ballot, vote the ballot, seal it and return to the clerk who files it until election day.

A total of 18,000 ballots were printed for distribution in Delta county for the election in November. These have been delivered to the various voting districts by County Clerk Ohlen. Escanaba received a total of 7,925; Gladstone 2,900 and townships 7,175.

Following is the distribution by precincts:

Escanaba city, Precinct 1—900; 2—950; 3—800; 4—850; 5—975; 6—1125; 7—1450; 8—875.

Gladstone total 2,900. Townships: Baldwin 450; Bark River precinct 1—450, precinct 2—300; Bay de Noc 300; Brampton 350; Cornell 300; Ensign 300; Escanaba 600; Fairbanks 300; Ford River 500; Garden precinct 1—500, precinct 2—100; Maple Ridge precinct 1—600, precinct 2—150; Masonville precinct 1—600, precinct 2—150; Nahma 500; Wells 725.

Cooks

Cooks—Leslie J. Savage, A. S. of the United States Navy, is spending a furlough at the home of his parents. He has been stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station where he completed his boot training.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie J. Savage and family spent Sunday with their daughter, Miss Lucille, who is a senior student nurse at St. Luke's hospital in Marquette.

COUNCIL AIRS CITY FINANCES

Five Features Stressed In Discussion Of Annual Report

Improvement in the condition of city finances was one of five important features of municipal activity for the fiscal year which ended June 30 which was discussed during a regular session of the city council Thursday evening. Revenues for the period were $37,444.79 in excess of budget estimates, City Manager George E. Bean explained.

Net tax roll collections were $5,182.74 over anticipated revenues, and payments of delinquent taxes and interest were $20,680.97 against an anticipated $10,000. Manager Bean emphasized that tax roll collecttions last year were the best in the history of the city.

Property Values Increased

In discussing the fiscal report further, Manager Bean pointed out that the city's bonded indebtedness as of June 30 was down to $100,000, and that on the present schedule of bond payments, the city's indebtedness will be wiped out in the fiscal year of 1951-52.

Four other features stressed during the discussion were the increased value of city owned property; increased service to citizens, chiefly through recreation, forestry, and improved garbage service, increasing cost of city operation due largely to improved service and improved waks scales and finally, the increased use of utility service.

A group insurance plan for city employees was tabled without action when it was reported to the council that interest in such protection among the employees was not sufficient to justify further consideration at this time. Following a recent meeting called to explain the plan, 52 employees voted against the adoption of group insurance while only 41 were in favor of it. A minimum of 75 active participants is required before any type of group insurance can be introduced, it was explained.

Oppose Utility Policy Change

The council went on record as opposed to any change in its present policy of service to utility users with respect to repairs and maintenance of gas and water lead-ins. The pipes joining the city mains and which bring these utilities into the users premises always have been considered the private property of the land owner and costs for repairs have been his responsibility.

Application for transfer of an S.D.M. license at 401 South 13th street from Mrs. Lillian Thompson to Warren D. Johnson was approved. The council also approved, with one dissenting vote, a request for assistance to the extent of $15 per month to be applied toward the rental of office space for the Veterans Rehabilitation Service committee.

KILLED IN FRANCE—T/Sgt. Frank J. Shomin, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shomin, 1515 Stephenson avenue, was killed in action in France on Aug. 9. In service since Nov. 28, 1941, he was sent overseas in Feb. 1944. Surviving him are his parents, two brothers who are in Merchant Marine and four sisters.

Making Beeswax

Beeswax begins as a secretion in the bee's glands. With its hind legs ,the insect removes the substance, brings it up to the mouth, where it is mixed with saliva and chewed into a consistency suitable for building honeycomb.

Munising News

School Enrollment Gains In Munising

Munising — The senior high school enrollment at Munising as of the second day of school is just three more than last year. The elementary total enrollment shows an increase of 45 over the same time a year ago.

The increase in elementary is noticeable in the kindergarten and first grade. The largest increase is in Mather elementary, with Lincoln also showing an up in enrollment. In Mather there are 49 more enrolled than in September, 1943.

Shingleton school is a little larger than a year ago, with Van Meer and Wetmore both showing small increases.

The increase in enrollment is not in accord with the school census, which shows 11 less than in May, 1943.

Jack Macki of the U. S. Seabees has left for Providence, R. I. Mrs. Maki will remain here, as Jack expects to go overseas.

MUST FIND 868 JOBS

Marquette—Business and industry in Marquette must provide 868 jobs over and above present estimates of postwar employment, if all persons ordinarily gainfully employed are to find employment when the war is over.

That was the figure announced last night by Mayor James J. Beckman, chairman of the Marquette postwar planning commission, when he submitted the commission's first formal report at a mass meeting of business and industrial representatives in the Graveraet high school. It was 264 more than the total of unemployed in 1940, the report showed.

Taking a long view, these 868 jobs must be materialized from new industry, from new business, or from an increase of employment by existing industry and business over and above what they now anticipate postwar employment to be, the mayor said.

Navy Recruiter Here On Saturday

Chief Machinist's Mate H. W. Edgerly, recruiter in charge of the U. S. Navy recruiting station, Marquette, Mich., will be in Escanaba all day at the post office building on Saturday, Sept. 9. Chief Edgerly is making a personal tour of his recruiting area, and will interview applicants for enlistment in the navy.

Young men of 17 are still wanted by the Navy to be trained in the various branches as specialists. Applicants are cautioned to have parent or guardian present to sign consent papers, also to bring birth certificates or certified copy thereof. Those soon to become 18 years of age and desire to enlist in the navy are urged to obtain full information at least two weeks prior to their 18th birthday as it takes some time to process an applicant for enlistment. After teaching the age of 18 they are no longer eligible to enlist in the Navy but are subject to induction.

Young women between the ages of 30 and 36 are being sought for enlistment in the WAVES. The Navy needs 30,000 more WAVES to fill the complement established by the first of the year.

Verboten

Among the things forbidden in Norway by the Germanized police is to whistle, shout, or make provocative remarks about German soldiers, or to sing the King's anthem.

Frost Is Forecast Here This Morning

With a temperature estimated at six degrees colder than yesterday morning, the U. S. Weather Bureau office here reported that light to locally heavy frosts and killing frost in exposed places was anticipated for this morning. Warmer weather, however, is expected today and this evening.

The official temperature in Escanaba yesterday was 43 degrees. Light frosts were reported in several areas, but crop damage was negligible.

Most victory gardeners protected their tender vegetables as a result of warnings issued by the weather bureau, Henry E. Hathaway, local meteorologist said.

Sound recording by magnetism on fine steel wire may possibly supplant Braille as the vehicle for books for the blind.

Use Of Red Blood Cells Is Planned For Future

The red blood cells which have been thrown away when the wonder-working plasma was extracted is expected in the future to become equally important in the world of medicine and surgery, Dr. A. B. Mitchell, medical director of the blood plasma program for the Michigan Department of Health, said here yesterday.

Dr. Mitchell and his staff are in charge of the mobile unit of the health department which is collecting blood on a tour of Upper Peninsula communities. The five-day blood plasma clinic in Escanaba will end today—with what is expected to be a record collection for any city in the U. P.

It is anticipated that at the end of today's clinic session a total of about 360 pints of blood will have been collected. For comparison, 318 pints were taken at Menominee last week, and an equal amount at Marquette earlier in the tour which started June 9 at Sault Ste. Marie and will end Sept. 29 at St. Ignace.

Will Be Used Locally

The plasma is being collected for use in the local hospital, for use at Powers sanatorium, and for other state institutions and hospitals in other communities throughout the state. Plasma will be distributed according to need.

Speaking of the state health department's plasma program, Dr. Mitchell said it is proposed to go into the field of other blood derivatives.

Resuspended in saline and glucose the red blood cells are important in the treatment of secondary and pernicious anemia.

Fibrin products developed from the red blood cells are used as a sheeting in operations on the brain; as fibrin foam they are used to stop hemorrhaging and need not be removed.

Serum albumen is another derivative from the red blood cells. Now in use at the front lines it is injected from a syringe package and has saved many lives prior to the injection of plasma.

The development of these blood derivatives in state health department laboratories is yet to come, Dr. Mitchell said. But in the future, as blood collections are made, it is expected to fully utilize the red blood cells and thus extend the scope of usefulness of the blood given by donors throughout the state.

These new derivative products will be returned to local hospitals and institutions, as is the plasma under the present program.

Rushed To Lansing

Blood collected in Escanaba is each night rushed by truck to the Straits of Mackinac. There a second driver takes over and the blood completes its journey to state health department laboratories at Lansing, arriving there before 8 a. m. Before night the blood is converted into plasma.

As plasma it may be kept bottled at room temperature for as much as one and one-half years. Or it may be powdered and before used mixed with distilled water.

From Escanaba the clinic will move to Manistique, thence to Munising, and complete the Upper Peninsula tour at St. Ignace.

CAR MAKES 55 MI. ON GALLON

Hand-Built Auto Travels Eighty Miles Per Hour

BY ROBERT OTEY

Lindsborg, Kas. (AP)—Henry Lungstrom built a midget automobile 11 years ago "just for fun" and the car can still perk along at 80 miles an hour.

The hand-built roadster, described by the 52-year-old machine shop operator as "all engine and no hood," was assembled with the help of four employees.

"We drew the blue prints on the garage doors at the back of the shop," Lungstrom says. "Every night we'd work on the car in our spare time, arguing why this or that change shouldn't be made.

"Some nights," he smiles, "the arguments got so hot we'd only get one bolt in."

Of Mixed Ancestry

Oldest part in the car came from a 1906 "model R" Ford, the newest from a 1916 Maxwell. Others in the strange assembly are from junk heap Chryslers, Cadillacs, Chevrolets, Studebakers and Buicks.

A tiny gasoline tank hanging from the rear of the vehicle holds only three and a half gallons but Lungstrom isn't bothered by a fuel shortage—the car gets 55 miles to a gallon on its four-cylinder 1914 Continental motor.

"I can drive from Lindsborg to Wichita and back (a distance of 160 miles,) and still have enough gas left to go for a Sunday ride," he says.

A Show In Itself

The self-styled "tinker king" of McPherson county once used the $600 midget to go on a wolf hunt, driving through gullies, under fences and everywhere other cars couldn't go.

His favorite story, however, recalls the time he drove to Blue Springs, Mo.—a 500 mile round trip—to visit a sister.

"While I was there I drove down to the automobile show at Kansas City. When I came out more people were looking at my homemade car than there were inside casting longing eyes on the shiny new ones."

The car doesn't have a name.

"Kansas went dry before I had a chance to christen it," he said.

ROOMS NEEDED FOR TEACHERS

Chamber Of Commerce Asking Local Homes To Offer Space

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce next week will mail questionnaires to the superintendents of schools in the Upper Peninsula to determine how many rooms must be reserved to house the teachers who will be coming to the M. E. A. convention here Oct. 5 and 6.

About 1200 teachers are expected to attend the meeting, and more than half will be placed in private homes. Persons who have rooms they are willing to rent to the visitors are asked to notify the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office at once.

Thus far, the number of rooms offered for rental to the teachers is far short of the needs. The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce would like to have a complete list of available accommodations by the end of next week.

Buyers And Sellers Getting Together

Marquette, Mich.— It appears that those who want to sell and those who want to buy resorts and resort lands in the Upper Peninsula will have the chance to contact each other. If they don't it will be their own fault.

The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, from time to time, receives requests from down-state and out-of-state residents, also some from the U. P. who wants to buy lands in the Upper Peninsula. These requests are listed in the Development Bureau's Bulletin, which is mailed out to Bureau members twice a week.

Then the Bureau received notification, from time to time, that certain owners of property in the Upper Peninsula, want to sell their holdings. These are also carried in the bulletin.

But now, just to make sure that the two get together, the Bureau has sent out a list of all the people who want to buy to those who want to sell, and a list of all those who want to sell is being sent to those who want to buy.

The name, Toronto, of Indian origin, means "A place of meeting."

BROMFIELD SAYS NEW DEAL TIRED

Author Raps Democratic Party In Talk To G.O.P. Women

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Pulitzer prize winner Louis Bromfield in an address here tonight called the Democratic party "a tired and quarrelsome and politically shifty . . . wreck, scarred and divided by bitter fueds."

Speaking to delegates to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, which released the text of his address, Author Bromfield rapped as "manifestly absurd" claims that "the Democratic party is in its present form a liberal party."

"I do not believe," he said, "that the Democratic party can rescue us out of the economic, social and political morass into which it has led us for the past twelve years.

"Most of our troubles and the much graver ones which threaten us is in the future have come out of the fact that the New Deal party under Mr. Roosevelt has sought to mix totalitarian and democratic government and they mix no more than oil and water."

"I hope you will bear in mind," Bromfield told the delegates . . . "that the speaker is by tradition and conviction an active member of the Democratic party who will this year, for the first time in his life, vote for a Republican candidate for president."

Mead Drug Store Damaged By Fire

The Mead Drug company store at 618 Ludington, and the interior of the whole two-story brick building, were damaged by smoke in a fire yesterday morning. The fire was confined altogether to the basement, was not serious, and the flames themselves caused slight damage.

The fire was reported at 7:25 in the morning, when Mr. and Mrs. Joe I. Perrow, owners of the building, were awakened in their upstairs apartment by smoke.

Fire Chief Arvid Johnson said that it appeared the fire had started around a steam pipe which passed through a wooden joist in the basement.

Is is estimated that 2,769 languages, exclusive of minor dialects, are spoken in the world.

Urges Communities To Finish Planning

George E. Bishop, secretary of Upper Peninsula Technical and Industrial subcommittee of the state Planning Commission, urged cities of the Upper Peninsula to complete postwar planning surveys and to begin now to lay plans for the postwar period.

He pointed out that some 38 cities, villages and counties within the peninsula have set up planning commissions upon the local level, but that many of them have not completed their work.

The Planning Commission of the city of Marquette last week made its first official report which showed that it will have an unemployment problem when the war is over, but the survey also revealed hitherto unknown figures on the postwar purchasing power, and the purchasing desires of its residents, so that the planning commission now has definite information upon which to lay its plans.

Movies Train Gunners

A new training technique, now used by the Army Air Forces, Navy, Marine Corps and Royal Air Force, centers around a motion picture projector and screen combination called the Waller Trainer, which gives prospective aerial gunners the illusion of sitting in the gun turret of a bomber.

Miss Westerberg Is the Bride of Harry L. Johnson

Miss Ellen C. Westerberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Westerberg, of 1314 North 18th street, became the bride of Harry L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, 1320 North 19th street, at a ceremony which took place Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, before the candle lighted altar of Bethany Lutheran church. Dr. C. Albert Lund read the marriage vows.

The bride wore a becoming dressmaker suit of soldier blue metalasse with matching accessories and her corsage was of white gladioli. Her sister, Mildred A. Westerberg, of Chicago, was her only attendant. She wore a brown suit with matching accessories and a corsage of golden yellow gladioli.

Ragnar Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Both Mrs. Westerberg and Mrs. Johnson wore black dresses with matching accessories and had shoulder bouquets of red roses.

A wedding dinner was served to immediate relatives at six o'clock at the Dells. The table, with places for twenty-four, was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom within a wedding bell. At either end of the table were white tapers in crystal holders. Mixed flowers were used in the decorations both at the Dells and at the bride's home where a reception was held following the dinner.

Home in Dearborn

After a short stay in Escanaba, the couple will make their home in Dearborn, Mich., where the bridegroom will enter government vocational school. Mr. Johnson, who received his honorable discharge recently, served with the United States Army for three and one-half years and during two years of this time was stationed in the Southwest Pacific.

The bride was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower, held at Unity hall on Tuesday evening, August 29, with Mrs. Axel Erickson, Mrs. Carl B. Westerberg and Miss Evelyn Rasmussen, hostesses. She was presented with many beautiful gifts.

Recruiters to Remain In City Through Today

Sgt. George M. Phillips and Cpl. Virginia Rocco, who are in Escanaba this week in the interests of recruiting for the Women's Army Corps, will remain here through today, it was announced yesterday, with headquarters during the day at the postoffice building, and in the evening at the House of Ludington.

All women of the district interested in securing information on this branch of the service are urged to contact the recruiting officers.

Members of the Women's Army Corps are now on duty as "medical technicians" in army hospitals, it is emphasized. These technicians are not in the hospitals as nurses, but are functioning in many vitally important roles, formerly covered by enlisted corpsmen of the Medical Department, such as pharmacists aides, optometrists, dental technicians, X-ray technicians, teachers of Braille, lip reading, and scores of others.

Women capable of filling these positions are eligible for ratings up to and including that as master sergeant.

Sunday School Conference at Bethany Church

Preparatory to the introduction and use of a new course of study in the Sunday Schools of the Lutheran Augustana Synod, group Sunday School Teachers Coaching Conferences are at this time being held throughout the synod.

Such a conference will be conducted in the local Bethany Lutheran church, Dr. C. Albert Lund, pastor, next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Sunday School teachers in churches of the synod located in Escanaba, Gladstone, Stonington, Perkins, Rapid River and Bark River have been asked to attend this conference. It is expected that a large number of teachers will be in attendance. Following the session there will be a social hour and serving of a light lunch.

In the evening at 7:30, a "Life and Growth" rally service will be held. This service is on of many details of a four-year program of events and projects, preparatory for the observance of the centennial year of the Augustana Synod, 1948. The main address in this rally service will be delivered by Rev. Emory Pokrant of Bark River. Special music will be provided by the choir and individual talent of the Bethany church.

Members and friends of the Bethany church are invited and urged to attend.

Dinner Party At Club Saturday

A dinner party will be held at the Escanaba Golf club Saturday evening, the dinner, at 7:30 o'clock, to be followed by a social evening. Dinner reservations are to be made before noon today by calling the club house.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE-244: Ireta T., aged 18, is secretary of a girl's club.

While I seldom employ a letter from readers in this column, today I shall make an exception and quote her missive.

"We have a club of 12 girls," her letter began, "and all of us are either 17 or 18 years of age.

"We are in need of some good advice and after much discussion at our last meeting, we picked you as the most reliable source.

"Before I describe our problems, I should tell you about our home life. We all come from very respectable and religious homes, and our families are the old-fashioned type.

"They think we are too young to know about the facts of life. And nobody at school ever gave us any specific help, so we are hoping you will furnish us some pointers.

Ideas for Club Discussion

"When we have our meetings, we discuss these things but we lack the specific facts.

"We have boy friends and some of us may be married before the year is over, but we feel totally unprepared to face the problems of marriage.

"Therefore, we hoped you'd understand, and we'd appreciate any pamphlet that you might send us.

"The only one I remember offhand is your bulletin 'Facts About Pregnancy,' but there are others.

"We shall be very grateful, Dr. Crane, for any help you may give us. We plan to discuss your materials at our next club meetings so will you please rush them? Thank you."

Christ's Motto About Sex Information

"Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?"

Jesus believed in giving people the vital facts for happy and successful living.

Certainly a group of young women aged 17 and 18, are entitled to the scientific "bread" which they crave for preparing themselves for successful marriage and motherhood.

Yet here in 1944 in one of our most progressive states, a group of such young women write for advice on the simple facts of sex, because their parents and their schools and their churches have ignored the subject or evaded it.

Your progressive editor, however, has stepped into the breach and thus is giving your youth the chance to obtain a complete scientific knowledge of sex facts.

Be grateful to this liberal newspaper, therefore, for it is doing what parents and schools and churches have failed to do.

Why People Go Wrong

"The truth shall set you free," exclaimed Jesus.

Ignorance and the prudish hiding of essential information only promote juvenile delinquency, disease and immorality.

Most of our young people don't consciously seek to be bad. They don't want to do wrong. They don't crave to become victims of venereal disease.

And when they marry, they don't wish to end in the divorce court within six months to a year.

They want to do right and be happy and live devoted lives. But when the adult generation gives them an intellectual "stone" when they hungrily cry for mental "bread," who is to blame for their later mistakes?

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

LETTER TELLS OF ROME VISIT

Pvt. Joe Poulin Has Audience With Pope

A letter of interest to many Gladstonians has been received from Pvt. Joseph L. Poulin, city, veteran of the African and Italian campaigns, by his mother, Mrs. Adeline Poulin.

It follows:

"I suppose you could tell by the news that I might have landed in France. Well I did. I hope you haven't worried too much, anyway I'm still alright. I haven't been hurt and I'm still in good health.

"I find this country different than Africa or Italy. In some respects I find it pretty much like home. The people are friendly and were very glad to see us. They were out to greet us everywhere. They are cleaner living and more ambitious than most Italians I've met. The Germans treated them mean and rough, took mostly everything they had but they never gave up and carried on what fighting they could.

"I've been anxious to tell you that I got a chance to go to Rome and I saw the Pope. Rome is a very beautiful city, very clean, it reminds me somewhat of Washington, D. C. We went to the places of greatest interest only because one would have to spend days there before they could see it all. We saw the Coliseum, the place where Caesar martyred the early Christians. Then we saw the oldest catacombs there, there are 900 miles of them under the city and in them are the chambers where St. Peter and Paul stayed while the Christians were being persecuted. Also we saw the seat of the old Roman government and the jail where they used to keep the people who awaited trial.

"About noon we went to Vatican City where St. Peter's Cathedral is and where the Pope lives. The church is the largest and most beautiful in the world, it's all made of stone, bronze, silver, gold and colored stone, the colored stone makes up its altars and the pictures. It's built in the form of a cross. It was all planned and built by Michael Angelo, the famous Italian artist. Then we saw the Pope in his private chapel. He was carried in by four of his personal bodyguards. He gave a short speech in English and in French, then he gave benediction. It's a sight one will never forget.

"I want you to send me some candy, cigarettes and soap. Wrap the soap in heavier paper as I can taste it in the candy and cigarettes."

From Water to Land

The earth's first amphibious animals learned to walk on land because they wanted to live in water. These prehistoric creatures, seeing their own pools drying up, started out in search of deeper ones and found they could live on land.

WAR PRISONERS COMING TO U. P

About 1,000 More Will Be Used To Cut Pulpwood

About one thousand prisoners of war will be brought to the Upper Peninsula sometime after Oct. 1 to augment the 600 now quartered at CC Camps Evelyn, AuTrain and Sidnaw, it was announced yesterday by O. K. Fjetland, Detroit, chief of field operations of the War Manpower commission, and Albert Gasvoda, Marquette, area director, who were Escanaba visitors yesterday. The captive labor will be employed in the production of pulpwood, of which there is now a critical shortage.

A conference will be held by timber operators, WMC and U. S. Army officials at the Kaufman building, Marquette, 3 o'clock this afternoon to determine the manpower needs of various jobbers and lumbering concerns. Operators desiring to obtain the services of prisoners of war are urged to attend the Marquette meeting.

The Bay de Noquet company of Nahma, the Munising Paper company of Munising, and Milo Gonser of Seney are among the operators in this area that have applied for prisoners of war. Since Camp Mormon Creek has been on the approved list as a site for housing such workers, there is the probability that some of the new allotment of prisoners will be quartered there. It is planned to establish four or five more camps in the Upper Peninsula.

Fjetland and Gasvoda are making a tour of the Upper Peninsula to complete arrangement for the woods labor recruitment campaign to be opened Sept. 17. They reported that the immediate need is for 3,600 additional men, particularly pulpwood cutters. Efforts will be concentrated on enlisting farmers and other seasoned workers to go into the woods this fall and winter.

School Attendance Shows Increase

The annual school census, which includes all children from five to 19 years of age, shows a drop of 172 over last year, it was announced yesterday by Supt. John A. Lemmer.

In 1943, the total number was 4040, while this year the figure reads 3,868.

On Wednesday, 2,499 pupils attended school, which is an increase of 64 over last year. In the senior high school 30 more pupils attended school, while attendance in the junior high school remained on the same level as last year.

The che is a Chinese musical instrument with 25 strings.

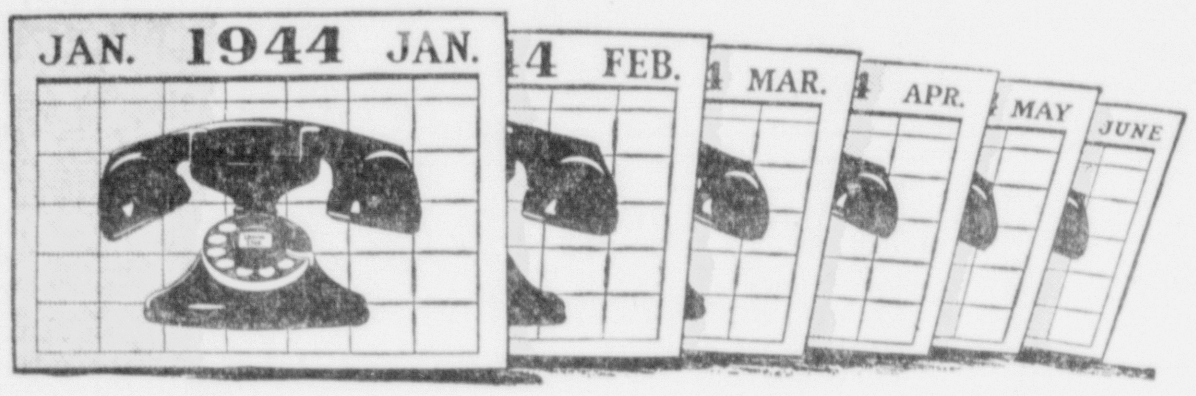
Mr. and Mrs. Arlis French and family and friend, Mrs. Margie Haverland and husband of Kaukauna, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Slown of Arcaita, Mich., were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer French. Miss LaVona French who has been visiting in Kaukauna, returned to her home.

MICHIGAN BELL IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1944



Early this year, we presented to you the results of our operations in 1943 compared with 1942, and also with 1939 which was the last year before war greatly affected the American economy.

It was shown that this company earned a smaller rate of return during war than during peace. That condition continues as indicated in a comparison of the financial results of our operations the first six months of 1944 with the first six months of 1943.

MORE BUSINESS . . . LESS PROFIT

Total revenue is up. Costs of operating the business are up even more. Net operating income and the amount available for dividends are down.

War needs continue to take almost all the telephone equipment that can be made. As a result, there are delays in meeting many requests for service. Long Distance connections to some points are delayed at times by crowded circuits. In all other respects, the quality of telephone service is comparable with that of pre-war years.

Everything indicates that we in Michigan Bell will have plenty to do when the war ends. We look forward to a very large post-war expansion and improvement program—new buildings, cables, central office apparatus and telephones—requiring a large amount of new capital. We have the agreeable prospect of welcoming back the more than 2,300 employees now in the armed forces. And the expansion program can be expected to provide employment for many others.

The inability to render full service to all is an unhappy experience for telephone men and women. Like you, we will welcome the day when we again can fill promptly every request for telephone service.

LIONS APPOINT 2 COMMITTEES

3 Are To Attend Ration Board Meeting, 3 On Band Shell

Two matters were acted upon Tuesday evening by the Lions club at their regular meeting.

After dinner, a communication from W. G. Stephens, chairman of the local price and rationing board addressed to President Frank Gierke was considered and a committee appointed to attend a membership drive meeting of the board and members of other civic, fraternal, and labor organizations.

On the committee who will attend the meeting in the courthouse September 15 are: Carlton Siddall, Hugh Kennedy and Earl Cox.

A written report was received from Ernest Eckland giving the results of his study of the band shell proposition.

Eckland reported and submitted sketches of a combination band shell, pool and dance floor to be constructed of concrete. Eckland suggests as its location the city park where it would back up to the lake. There would be many advantages in building it there, he told the group. For example, there would be ample room with no traffic hazards.

Eckland suggests that the Lions club would furnish the labor if the city would supply the materials and tools plus a carpenter to construct the forms for the concrete.

The committee appointed to continue work on the project with Eckland are: Earl Cox, Ronald Fiegel, and Harold Plichta.

OPA Advises Recapping Tires

Grade I passenger car tires will be even more scarce in September, it appears. The national quota of these tires is 350,000 under the quota for August it is reported by the Escanaba district office OPA.

Manpower still remains the big problem. Due to the great demand for heavy tires, for both army and civilian uses, workers are being transferred from the manufacture of passenger tires to the manufacture of truck tires.

The Escanaba District Office reports that more re-capping is being done now. With the scarcity of Grade I tires, dealers are recommending that the motorist have his tires re-capped when it is at all possible to do so rather than try to get new tires.

The scarcity of Grade I tires will be reflected in Schoolcraft county, it is said by W. G. Stephens, chairman of Schoolcraft County War Price and Rationing Board. The quota for Schoolcraft county for September Mr. Stephens said is 69. This is 65 less than the quota for August. Mr. Stephens said 28 applications remain left over from August to be taken care of this month.

SOFTBALL CLUB PLANS BANQUET

Informal Party Will Be Held Sept. 14 At Ski Lodge

A modified annual banquet and yearly business meeting of the Escanaba Softball Association will be held at the Escanaba Ski Lodge on Thursday evening, September 14th beginning at 8:00 o'clock. At a meeting of softball officials, managers and players held at the city recreation center Thursday night, members voted to suspend for a year the formal banquet usually held at local hotels in favor of a more informal party at the lodge with a lunch to be served by members of the committee. A brief program is planned which will include a brief talk by some well known and entertaining sports enthusiast, comedy numbers, presentations, brief talks by team representatives, and possibly other numbers. The business meeting at which time election of officers, reading of reports, and other matters will be settled will be held immediately after the program.

Chairman of the party is Mel Bertrand for many years with Wells DX team of this year and last. Assisting him are Paul Vardigan and Clarence Sovey. All team managers may secure tickets from Bertrand immediately and are asked to contact members of their team over the week end in order to report by Monday evening the number expecting to attend.

Softball players, fans, and friends are invited to attend the party. Tickets may be secured from managers, any member of the committee, or association officers will get them for anyone desiring them.

In addition to regular business and program of the annual meeting, the event will be softball's official farewell to Bevier Butts, city recreation director who helped to organize the association and who has worked closely with it since its inception.

According to the committee, the lunch will include the usual refreshments.

Nelson Holds Tight Lead In Texas Open

Dallas, Sept. 7 (AP) — Byron Nelson, the nation's leading golfer in tournament victories and money earned, held a tight lead in the first 18 holes of the Texas Victory open today with two thirds of the bulky field in. Nelson's 69—two under par—was three strokes better than anything posted as the shadows crept over Lakewood Country Club course.

However, such top golfers as Harold McSpaden and Dutch Harrison still were to be heard from and both were hovering close to par coming into the stretch.

BUNGLES BEAT CUBS, 3 AND 2

St. Louis, Sept. 7 (AP)—A ninth inning error and a wild pitch gave the St. Louis Cardinals their 14th straight victory over the Chicago Cubs as the league leaders defeated the Bruins 3 to 2 tonight.

Marty Marion, who had walked, was on third with two out when Don Johnson fumbled Augie Bergamo's grounder. Marion came in with the tying score. Johnny Hopp singled and Bergamo went to third, scoring the winning run on Bob Chipman's wild pitch.

Phil Cavaratta gave the Cubs a one-run lead in the sixth when he hit a homer to score behind Stan Hack.

Two Runs In First Win For Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Sept. 7 (AP) — Ed Heusser bested Fritz Ostermueller tonight as the Cincinnati Reds edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 to 1, in the first game of their battle for second place in the National league.

The Reds scored both their runs in the first inning when Woodie Williams walked, took second on a fielders' choice, and scored on Frank Mc Cormick's double. Mc Cormick then tallied when Ray Mueller singled.

Ott's Homer Helps Beat Braves, 9 to 3

New York, Sept. 7 (AP) — Mel Ott's 26th home run with two aboard, and Ernie Lombardi's 9th with one on made it easy for Bill Voiselle to hang up his 19th victory today as the New York Giants walloped the Boston Braves 9 to 3 in the final night game of the season at the Polo grounds.

After holding the Braves hitless for the first five innings, a pass to pinch-hitter Jim Tobin, an error by Buddy Kerr on Max Maco and Charley Workman's homer, the Braves' first hit, produced all three of Boston's runs in the sixth.

Ott led the Giant attack with his homer and a pair of doubles, while Bill Voiselle besides pitching a three-hitter, cleared the bases with a double to climax a four-run Giant rally in the fifth.

CHANCES GOOD IN FLAG SPRINT

Weather And Schedule Work To Advantage Of Detroiters

BY FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, Sept. 7 (AP) — Steve O'Neill, soft-speaking manager of the spirited Detroit Tigers, can offer up a heart-felt "thank-you" to both the weather man and the schedule makers if the 1944 Bengals squeeze through to the American league pennant.

Assists from both have placed the Tigers in a position O'Neill termed today as providing "a great chance" for the flag.

Washouts and postponements have been amazingly negligible for the Tigers at home this year, only two games at Briggs Stadium having been postponed and only one—a tie game with Boston—remaining to be replayed.

As a result Detroit, only a short hop from the league lead, is favored by seven days of idleness out of the next 11 before opening its 14-game windup home stand against Eastern clubs.

"Rest is the big thing we need now," O'Neill said today as the club returned for four games with Cleveland after grabbing six of eight from St. Louis and Chicago.

Rest Big Help

Hal Newhouser and Paul (Dizzy) Trout, the league's two top win-producing pitchers, have been working approximately every third day, either as starters or in relief, to grab 17 wins against three losses since Aug. 1 while the club was winning 24 of 34—a .706 clip.

"Cooler September weather, plus the additional rest, should keep them in shape to go the rest of the way with only two days between assignments," O'Neill said.

The Tiger pilot had nothing but praise for the 39-year-old Roger "Doc" Cramer, who discarded his "bottle" bat and smacked out a .528 hitting mark in the last eight games on the road.

Thanks to the schedule makers, Detroit plays 18 of its last 22 games at home, winding up with four against Washington which has taken only three of 18 from the Tigers this year.

While the Bengals are busy against the lowly Senators and Philadelphia Athletics, St. Louis winds up with seven "crucial" contests against Boston and New York.

"The pennant might well hinge on that last week," O'Neill predicted. "We've got a great chance."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys ... simple as A-B-C."

TROUT ALLOWS BUT 3 SAFETIES

Cramer Still Hottest Hitter For Detroit With 2 Singles

BY FRANK KENESSON

Detroit, Sept. 7, (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, making hay behind Paul (Dizzy) Trout's three-hit pitching, whitewashed the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 0, here today to shave their distance back of the American league leading New York Yankees to a single game.

Trout had the Indians on his hip all afternoon in recording his sixth shutout this year and his 24th pitching victory against 10 defeats. He fanned Lou Boudreau and Roy Cullenbine for the last two putouts in the ninth, striking out five over the distance and walking three.

Detroit raked righthander Jim Bagby, the Cleveland starter, for five singles in the first inning but an Indian double play cut the run production to a single tally.

Bagby Lifted

It was all Trout needed, though Detroit combined three more singles with a sacrifice for another run in the fifth and shoved across another counter in the seventh. Roger Cramer led off with his second single of the game, was sacrificed to second, beat Boudreau's throw to third off Pinky Higgins' grounder and scored after Rudy York's deep fly to center.

Bagby stayed through to the eighth, when lifted for a pinch hitter, and Joe Heving retired the Tigers in order in their last turn. Bagby was charged with his fifth setback against three victories.

The game, played in chilly temperatures, attracted 6,429 paid admissions.

Cramer, hottest hitter in the league right now with a .538 batting average for the Tigers' last nine games, rapped out two sharp singles in three official trips, scoring his 12th run of the spree.

He was the only Tiger to get more than one hit off Bagby and only one of Detroit's hits went for extra bases—Bob Swift's double with two away in the sixth.

Cramer opened the first with a single to center but was rubbed out in a double play, Bagby to Boudreau to Mickey Rocco, when Eddie Mayo bounced to the mound. Higgins then singled to center, York singled to left and Dick Wakefield pounded a liner between short and third to score Higgins. Jimmy Outlaw's infield hit filled the bases but Swift popped to Ray Mack for the third out.

Next Game Saturday

Bagby pitched hitless ball for the next three innings before Joe Hoover and Trout singled successively to left to open the fifth. Cramer bunted but Hoover beat the throw to third and the bases were full. Mayo singled to right, scoring Hoover, but Higgins bounced into a double play, Bagby to the plate to first, and Boudreau threw out York to end the inning.

Cleveland got only one man past first, Mack singling to lead off the third and taking third on Bagby's hit to right. Rocco popped to Higgin sand Hoag hit into a double play to break up the threat.

Trout pitched hitless ball for the last six innings as only three Indians got on, two by walks and a third on Mayo's throw which pulled York off first for an error.

Detroit is idle tomorrow and Cleveland takes on a Fort Custer nine at Battle Creek in an exhibition game before the two teams resume their series with a single game Saturday. A doubleheader is set for Sunday.

Would Save Coal

According to estimates of experts, 15,000,000 tons of coal could be saved in the United annually by elimination of hard water from locomotive boilers, this type of water being more difficult to heat than soft water.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The upper peninsula football season will open officially tonight with two after-dark games, Stambaugh at Negaunee and Calumet at Ironwood. At least four Saturday afternoon games are scheduled this week end—Iron Mountain at Ishpeming, Iron River at Bessemer, Munising at Manistique, and Sault Ste. Marie at Newberry. The season promises to be excitingly interesting, despite the wails of woe that are heard from gridiron camps all over the peninsula.

• • •

Ironwood, unbeaten upper peninsula champions of 1943, is starting the new season with eight lettermen, but only two regulars from the 1943 lineup, Treado and Pavlovich. Four others, however, who saw considerable service are back in action, along with three lettermen who made irregular appearances in the Red Devils lineup. Little has been heard from Hancock, runners-up in the title race. Escanaba, which finished third, lost virtually all of its 1943 team, and is expected to draw a couple of bloody noses, more or less, during the season. Negaunee, with 10 lettermen, looks potent again.

• • •

Menominee and Iron Mountain are expected to be well loaded this fall, particularly the Maroons if they are able to adopt the new coaching system there readily. Manistique should have a powerhouse, if experience proves a vital factor. The Emeralds have no less than 16 returning lettermen and in Capt. Bob Curley, they possess the speediest ball carrier of the peninsula and one of the season's top scorers of 1943. Sault Ste. Marie is another team that may be pressing seriously for peninsula title honors. The Lock City crew won five out of seven last fall and has a good assortment of experienced talent available again.

• • •

This week's games, the scores of the corresponding games last year, and my guess on the outcome this week follow:

—Stambaugh at Negaunee (no game in 1943) Negaunee is favored in this game, but not by a decisive margin.

Calumet (0) at Ironwood (19)—The Red Devils resume the victory parade where they left off in '43.

Iron Mountain (18) at Ishpeming (6)—Score one for the Mountaineers.

Iron River (0) at Bessemer (13)—Iron River won only one game out of seven last fall and must be regarded as the underdog in this game.

(0) (25)

Munising at Manistique—The Emeralds by four touchdowns. The Algerites scraped the bottom last fall and haven't bounced back yet.

(29) (12)

Soo at Newberry—The Lock City team should won this one handily.

• • •

Menominee will play a nine game schedule this season, the longest in the peninsula and the maximum allowed by the MHSAA. Five of the games are with Wisconsin schools—Kaukauna, Oconto, Shawano, Peshtigo and Marinette. Peninsula competition the Maroons will meet are Stephenson, Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba and Iron Mountain. Shawano replaced Iron River, who dropped the Maroons this season. Kaukauna is also a new foe for Menominee and provides the opener for Menominee in a night game at Kaukauna Sept. 16.

Ousted League Leaders Fight Way Back To Top Of Heap

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, ousted from the American League lead Monday after more than three months' occupancy, fought their way back into a tie with the idle New York Yankees tonight by rallying for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4. The co-leaders are one game ahead of the Detroit Tigers, who shut out Cleveland, 3 to 0, this afternoon.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

GROUSE THE BEST OF ALL HUNTING

For downright pleasure in hunting, no season can equal the partridge, ruffed grouse, season. This occurs when our northwoods are most interesting of all the year.

No matter how "hard boiled" we may pretend to be there isn't one of us who does not appreciate the riot of color our woods show in October. The hunter is in a setting of beauty that just cannot be equaled.

There are no hardships such as we bear in duck hunting, nor cold biting winds and snow as in the deer season. The trails under foot are soft to the tread. The biting insects are gone and you hunt in a slow, easy manner, looking for that king of all birds, the partridge.

• • •

This is no season of slaughter, for you are hunting a wary bird, one who knows every inch of his range. He is no migrant like the ducks, nor is he a roving bird like his cousins, the sharptail or the prairie grouse.

• • •

Except when the cycle is down, when the birds die off in thousands from causes we do not yet understand, the partridge breeds in great numbers. When the cycle is over, the downward trend is soon overcome and the birds are plentiful.

We, the average hunter, seldom get the bag limit of ruffed grouse. Unless you are young, very, very quick in your reflexes, he is gone before you can swing the gun on him. When you get old, the old arm, the slow muscles, cause you to miss many a shot you would have "called" a few years back.

You know you are going to miss 'em, but nothing can take away the old thrill of their fast flush and clean getaway. The long-dead leaves and those which are dropping, wet by dew or rain are an easy carpet upon which to tread.

• • •

As softly as you walk as slowly as you move you cannot overcome the slight rustle which their keen ears, and probably sensitive feet, hear or feel in your approach.

• • •

When our boys come back, hunting our woods with cylinder bore or improved cylinder bore shot guns, I wonder how many of these birds they will get from a box of shells with seven or seven and one-half size shot.

I wonder if those "bursting bombshells," our partridge, won't startle them at first and throw them off their mark in their flash, whirr and getaway. It will be fun for we oldtimers to watch them try to figure these birds out in their first experience with the partridge, nor can that day come too soon through our earnest wishes.

Menominee Entrant Reaches Semi-finals In Women's Match

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 7 (AP)—Betty Jean Rucker, of Spokane, Wash., entered the ranks of favorites in the third annual Broadmoor Invitation tournament today when she upset the defending champion, Mrs. Murray Gose of Colorado Springs, 8 and 7.

The Spokane girl's semifinal opponent Friday will be Miss Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich.

RELAPSE ENDS FOR STOCK LIST

New York, Sept. 7 (AP)—Financial markets got a selective foothold on recovery today as commitments were reinstated here and there with the idea Wednesday's sharpest relapse in nearly a year had been overdone notwithstanding persistent fears of postwar reconversion difficulties.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .2 of a point at 53.3. Industrials were the main sufferers, the rail and utility composites emerging with modest improvement. Of 966 issues registering, 504 were lower, 274 higher and 188 unchanged. Transfers of 1,477,770 shares compared with 1,470,260 the day before and were the largest since July 17.

Pepsi-Cola was a lone strong spot, rising 2 55-8 when directors approved submission to shareowners of the plan for a three-for-one splitup in the capital stock.

American Airlines and Du Pont lost 2 each and lesser casualties were U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, U. S. Gypsum and Texas Co.

BOND BUYERS CHOOSY

New York, Sept. 7 (AP)—The bond market recovered partially today after the substantial decline among rails and other popular trading issues on Wednesday. Buyers were choosy, however, and at the close the main corporate list had about as many minus signs as there were gainers.

Trading expanded sharply from recent low levels, sales amounting to $10,327,200, the largest in about two months, and compared with $8,987,000 the day before. The Associated Press average of 20 rails gave up .3 of a point on top of the & point decline on the preceding day but other groups held relatively steady.

Ending higher by fractions generally and in some cases a point were Pere Marquette 4s and 4½s, 'Frisco 4½s, Seaboard 6s and 4s, Union Pacific 3½s, Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles, North Western 4½s and St. Paul 5s of '75. Unable to make any progress were Big Four 4½s, Columbia Gas 5s, Rio Grande Western 5s, International Great Northern 5s5 and Katy first 4s.

Quick disposal of a new $65,000,000 Armour & Co. bond issue heartened investment circles faced with the task of marketing several large issues in the next two weeks. The general run of high grade corporates held fully steady with some advancing into new high ground. U. S. governments were about even on the day.

Advances in bonds of Antioquia and Denmark seood out in a quiet foreign department.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP)—Grain futures markets fluctuated erratically today, rallying shortly after the opening only to break at mid-session, then advance at the close.

Rye hit new seasonal lows before noon and at the bottom sold at 93 7-8, more than 40 cents below the high established for that contract last January.

The rye market was active throughout the day and trading extended over a four-cent range. Profit taking on the early upturn caused prices to break from 3 1-8 to 4 3-8 cents. When shorts tried to cover after noon they found the offerings had dried up and a greater part of the day's losses was erased.

Wheat turned strong shortly before the close and prices moved to new highs for the session.

At the close wheat was 1 3-8 to 2 1-8 higher than yesterday's close, September $1.54 5-8. Oats were 3-8 lower to 1 5-8 higher, September 59 3-8 to 59 5-8. Rye was 3-4 lower to 5-8 higher, September 95 3-4 to 96. Barley was off 1-8 to 1, September $1.04 3-4.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—ORDER OF THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION—MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS.

The Director of Conservation, having made a thorough investigation in regard to migratory game birds, recommends certain regulations.

THEREFORE, the Conservation Commission, by authority of Act 230, P. A. 1925, hereby orders that for a period of one year from September 15, 1944, it shall be unlawful to shoot waterfowl over baited areas; to use live duck or goose decoys in taking waterfowl; to leave decoys set out at night in public waters; to take waterfowl by means, aid, or use of cattle, horses, or mules; to take migratory game birds from or by aid of an automobile, airplane, sinkbox (battery), power boat, sail boat, any boat under sail, any floating craft or device of any kind towed by power boat or said power; to shoot waterfowl, coots, rails, gallinules, and woodcock prior to one half hour before sunrise or after sunset, to use any firearm other than a shotgun, or to use a shotgun larger than 10 gauge, or an automatic or hand-operated repeating shotgun capable of holding more than three shells, the magazine of which has not been cut off or plugged with one-piece metal or wooden filler incapable of removal through the loading end.

Signed, sealed, and ordered published this fifteenth day of August, 1944.

HARRY H. WHITELEY, Chairman.
WAYLAND OSGOOD, Secretary.

Countersigned:
P. J. HOFFMASTER, Director.

REA CO-OPS IN MEETING HERE

Directors And Managers Meet In Discussion Of Problems

The first session of a two-day meeting of Rural Electrification Administration cooperatives directors and managers of Northern Michigan was held in Escanaba yesterday at the Delta hotel. About 30 REA coop officials are attending the conference which closes today.

General discussion of problems of REA cooperatives, with specific attention to certain technical phases, is included in the program. Julius Sivula, director of the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric association, is presiding as chairman of the sessions.

Wynant Nieuwenkamp, Gladstone, manager of the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric association, welcomed the officials to the conference.

Harold Lees, Boyne City, manager of the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric company, spoke on "Substation Transformer Dehydration." Harvey Kapahn, Sault Ste. Marie, manager of the Cloverland Electric Cooperative, talked on the subject "Postwar Expansion of Low Density Areas."

In the afternoon session yesterday E. J. Stoneman, president of the National Association of REA Cooperatives, spoke briefly, and Harold Lees presented an OWI moving picture.

A discussion of the legal problems of the REA coops will be conducted this morning by Judge Leon Miller, Boyne City, counsel for Top O' Michigan Rural Electric company. Peter Weiland, treasurer of the same company, will discuss the benefits to be obtained through affiliation with the state-wide REA Cooperatives organization. Orville Hurford, manager of the Thumb Electric cooperative, will speak on the state association sponsored safety program.

In the afternoon closing session a discussion of safety practices will be held following the screening of a safety film, and Gust Klieber, manager of the Presque Isle County Electric Cooperative, will speak on "The Advantages of a Cooperative Owning Its Generating Plant."

Others attending the meeting include John A. Carlson, manager of the Ontonagon County Cooperative; Bruce Carter, Madison, Wis., REA field engineer; Lawrence Meyers, East Lansing, advisor for Michigan REA safety and job training; and Richard Witz, East Lansing, extension specialist and agricultural engineer.

Predicts Increase Of Archery Hunting

G. Harold Earle, president of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Company of Hermansville, operators of Blaney Park, in a letter to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, said Blaney Park expected an increased number of bow and arrow hunters during the 1944 hunting season.

He said he believed the anticipated increase is a result of the success of hunters last fall when four out of a party of 12 bow and arrow hunters, felled their bucks.

"These people now tell us that we can expect four or five times as many archers this year and they expect to be up for two weeks instead of one week, as last year," he said.

Aviation Will Be Taught In Schools

Boulder, Colo. —Colorado will teach aviation in grade schools.

The Colorado university summer session is offering a course to guide teachers in preparing youngsters for an important part in the aviation age.

The course will include the history of aviation, the structure and identification of planes, facts about airways and airports, civil air regulations, communications, meteorology and the theory of flight.

Name Committee On Arrangements For Scout Meet

Harry Gruber, Clarence Zerbel and S. M. Bradford have been named a committee on arrangements for the first annual Hiawathaland Boy Scout council meeting to be held in this city on Sunday, Sept. 24. The appointments were announced Thursday by C. G. Nelson, president of the council.

R. L. Thompson, Marquette, council scout executive, is expected to be in Escanaba Saturday, Sept. 16, to confer with the committee, at which time detailed arrangements for the one day session will be made.

Representatives from the five districts of the council will attend the meeting. Election of officers, reports of activities and discussion of the budget for the year are the major items up for consideration.
